LAUSCHE CALLS FOR BROWNOUT OF OHIO LIGHTS

Mayor Says No Action To Be Taken Here Until After Meeting Tuesday.

Governor Lausche proclaimed a state of emergency in Ohio today as a result of the coal mine shutdown and called for public and private conservation of "all fuel possible," according to an Associated Press report.

The governor named the three-member public utilities commission of Ohio to act as a fuel conservation committee and asked all business and utilities to "carry out faithfully" federal directions for fuel conservation.

Mayor Calls Meeting

Although the federal government has ordered a dimout in 21 states including Ohio today at 6 p. m. Mayor Harry L. Dowler said he would take no action to have the lights turned out here tonight. The mayor said he is calling a meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the council chamber of coal dealers, utility officials and retailers to discuss the coal situation here and to determine what restrictive measures will be taken locally. No curtailment action will be ordered by him until after tomorrow night's meeting, the mayor said.

Gov. Lausche's dimout proclamation appears on P. 16

Harold J. Grigsby, manager of the Marion division of the Ohio Public Service Co. said the division stood ready to carry out any orders which the governor might relay to city officials.

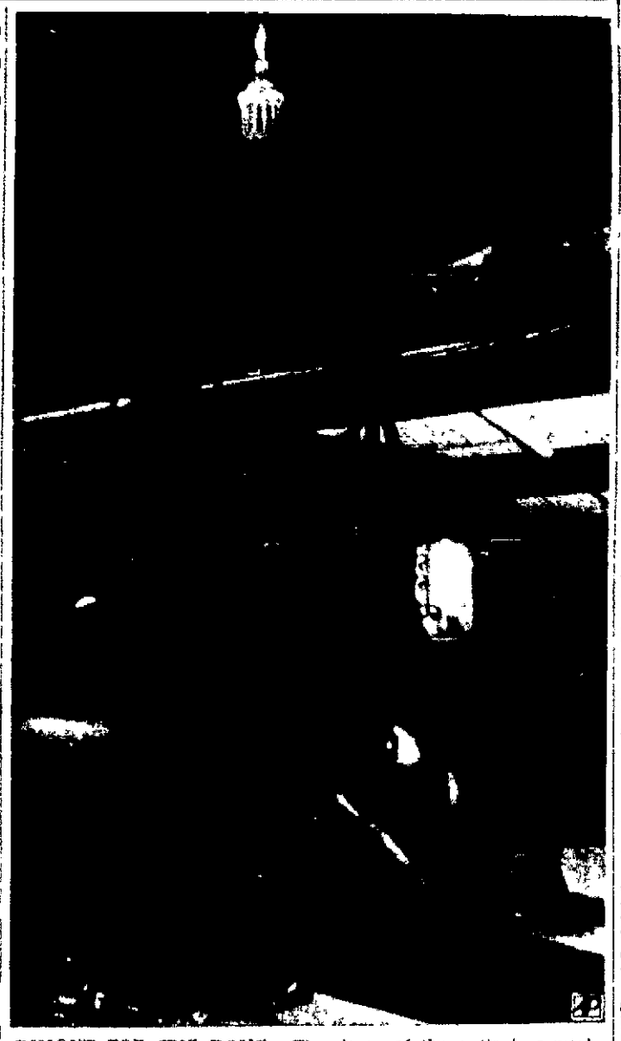
Yule Lights Go Up

Marion's Christmas decorations are going up in the downtown area, with the usual strings of colored lights, but the lights will not be turned on until a clarification of the dimout order has been received, Chamber of Commerce officials report. The lights originally were scheduled to go on Thanksgiving night.

To be dimmed or darkened by the government's order, covering 21 states including Ohio, are advertising and promotional lighting, outdoor display and flood lighting, show window lights, marquee lighting in excess of 60 watts and whiteway street lighting in excess of the amount required for public safety. Restrictions also apply to air conditioning, all non-residential illumination in excess of 75 per cent of normal service.

Meanwhile, city residents, schools, public institutions and local coal dealers were watching closely their diminishing coal supplies. Some local coal dealers are rationing their supplies to a ton for each customer. Local schools report they have a sufficient coal supply to last until the Christmas vacation.

Robert H. Steif, Union station agent, said passenger service through Marion has not been affected by government restrictions on coal burning trains.



DIMOUT FOR THE DOME. The dome of the nation's capital, usually brilliant in the glare of floodlights, is dimmed and gray to save fuel in coal crisis. The peak remains lighted as a safety measure. MINE LEADER MUST DEFEND ACTION IN COURT WEDNESDAY

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24—Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough declared today that John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers "undertook to decide the law for themselves" and ordered them to trial Wednesday for contempt in the soft coal shutdown.

The trial probably will run into next week while industrial paralysis tightens from the diminishing coal supply.

Welly K. Hopkins, counsel for Lewis and the union, sought a delay to permit Joseph A. Padway, general counsel of the AFL, to join in the defense but Goldsborough refused the request, commenting that the "public interest" requires as speedy a settlement as possible in view of the mine walkout already in its fifth day.

Speaking in low tones, Goldsborough expressed the hope that labor unions would not "do something that might influence congress" to pass legislation which might "set the labor movement back for years."

Regrets Statement

"I don't know whether I was justified in making that statement," he commented afterwards. "It was extra-judicial."

The White House meanwhile maintained silence. Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters there was "nothing" there on the coal situation.

To questions whether there is any movement under way to bring Republican leaders to the White House to talk over the coal crisis, Ross replied with "no comment."

Goldsborough set Wednesday's trial after ruling that Lewis had not purged himself of the contempt charges directed against him Nov. 21 for failure to withdraw a no-contract notice to the government. It was Lewis' cancellation of the work agreement that touched off the walkout of 400,000 soft coal miners.

Lewis sat silently in the crowded courtroom while Hopkins argued that Goldsborough lacked jurisdiction either to issue an order requiring Lewis to rescind the notice or to issue the contempt citation that followed.

Attempts by government counsel to argue that point immediately were cut off by Goldsborough.

Took No Action

Then Hopkins announced that Lewis and the union had taken no action to comply with the court's order that the non-contract notice be withdrawn and were ready to go to a trial which might result in punishment of the union chief if convicted of contempt.

Hopkins attempted, however, to delay the trial date. He said the union has had no opportunity to read the government's argument. A bulky brief was presented at the start of the session by Assistant Attorney General John F. Sonnett.

Hopkins declared also that some union counsel were out of town and would not be ready.

U. S. Objects To Delay

Sonnett arose abruptly from the government counsel table and told Goldsborough the government would object to any delay in view of the strike emergency. Goldsborough affirmed the Wednesday date and directed both sides to be on hand in the same courtroom at 10:00 a. m. two days hence, declared the matter concluded for the day and recessed his court.

Contrary to the government's position, Hopkins argued that Lewis' notice to Secretary of Interior Krug terminating the UMW contract was "both legal and proper." He said also that neither Lewis nor the union had taken any action in compliance with the court's order to withdraw the cancellation notice.

Goldsborough haled Lewis into court to answer a contempt citation for refusal to withdraw the notice, which signalled a nation-wide strike in the soft coal fields.

"The defendants, and each of them, respectfully deny the jurisdiction of this honorable court to issue a restraining order," Hopkins said of Goldsborough's order.

Challenges Contempt Writ

The union also challenges the court's right to order the contempt hearing, Hopkins added, and is prepared to let the case go to trial with an advisory jury.

Such a trial on Wednesday has been set by Goldsborough in the event Lewis failed to "purge" himself of the alleged contempt.

John Sonnett, chief government attorney, immediately offered to argue against the union's position, but Goldsborough cut him short.

"This complaint was filed by the sovereign power by society itself," the judge said.

"I don't think any thinking person wants to see anything happen to labor unions insofar as their raising their standards of living are concerned.

Disobeyed Restraining Order

"The defendants say they have done nothing. That amounts to saying they did not obey the restraining order.

"But they say they did not have to obey the order because it was not legal. That's their position."

Hopkins then asked that the trial date be set later than Wednesday, pleading that the union only this morning had seen the government's argument. An adjournment should be ordered "in the public interest," Hopkins asserted.

Sonnett promptly objected, citing the urgency of the strike situation.

The government's brief declared two issues were before the court in today's hearing: 1—whether a contempt was alleged; and 2—if so, whether it had been sufficiently purged.

"Contempt" Clear

"There is clearly alleged contempt of the judicial power of this court," the brief declared, adding that this did not involve the question whether the Nor-

The committee is looking into the question of using the war-built carriers for emergency use in piping gas to fuel-short eastern industries.

SALE AT DEPOT STARTS TODAY

Federal Agencies First Customers for Huge Lot of Surplus Goods.

Sale of approximately $2,414,902 worth of surplus commodities at the Marion Engineer depot opened to federal agencies today under the direction of war assets administration.

Doors were opened at 9 a. m. this morning at Warehouse No. 2 just inside gate three, where the sale, which will continue for the next several weeks, is being conducted.

A staff of 70 salesmen and clerks were on duty there to assist in selling the close to 2,000 consumer items, the first step in a move to clear all surplus property from the depot. The sale for federal agencies will continue through tomorrow. Officials said they were uncertain of the response they would get from federal agencies, but they indicated that Nov. 27, 29 and Dec. 2, sale dates for certified veterans, would bring in hundreds of veterans interested in purchasing much-needed commodities.

All material is being sold on the site. One of the outstanding features of the sale is that it is the first in the Cleveland region in which consumer goods are in the great majority.

Included in the commodities for sale are such items as silica gel, drill sharpeners, paint, rust preventives, pressure tester gauges, tool kits, and hundreds of other items.

Beginning Dec. 9, the sale will be open to the non-priority public. During the sale period the doors will be open from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. daily except Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

Pilot Only Bruised In Plane Wreck At Richwood Airport

Special to The Star

RICHWOOD, Nov. 25—William Mann, 28, of Delaware, suffered only severe bruises and was able to walk away from the wreckage of an airplane he was piloting at Richwood airport Sunday at 4:30 after the plane went out of control and fell 100 feet to the ground.

He was taking off to return to Delaware, observers said, and when he attempted a climbing turn, the motor stalled and the wind caught the light Taylorcraft plane and dumped it. It hit the ground just outside the airfield and skidded and rolled about 50 feet. It was demolished.

Mann had just left his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Mann out of the plane. They had returned from visiting relatives in Delta, O. and Mann was returning the airplane to Delaware, where he had rented it.

He was treated by a physician in Richwood and is resting at his parents' home there. He is an ex-serviceman.

FUR COATS STOLEN FROM STORE WINDOW

Garments Worth $650 Pulled Through Hole in Glass.

Two fur coats valued at $650 were stolen from the show window of the Lurye Fur Store at 199 West Center street, probably early this morning, police said.

The coats were pulled through a five-inch hole in the window, which was broken by a brick. The burglary was discovered by Mrs. Charles Gyber, proprietor of the millinery department of the Lurye store. She found the window broken at 9:15 this morning when she came to work. It was broken near the door of the store, about 10 feet from the sidewalk, and the break-in had not been observed by passersby.

The coats were silver fox and silver muskrat. The loss was not covered by insurance, Harry Lurye, proprietor, said.

BUCYRIAN STABBED IN FAMILY QUARREL

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Nov. 25—A Bucyrus man is in City hospital here in serious condition, suffering from deep stab and slash wounds in the abdomen, and police are holding his father-in-law.

The injured man is Kenneth Turner, 26, of 228 North Sandusky avenue, a City Cab driver. Police say he was attacked at that address Saturday night by his father-in-law, Gus Wilburn. No charges have been filed.

Police said the fight took place during a family argument involving Mrs. Turner and Mrs. Wilburn and the two men. Turner was said by police to have been drinking and to have knocked Wilburn down.

After the attack, police said Wilburn hid a two and one half inch blade pocket knife along the railroad tracks near the house, where they found it.

12 Survivors of Alpine Crash Enroute To Army Hospitals

By The Associated Press

INTERLAKEN, SWITZERLAND, Nov. 25—Twelve Americans who lived five days on an Alpine glacier 12,000 feet above sea level were safe on a United States army hospital train enroute to Munich today, rescued from their plight by the same route they got into it—through the air.

Swiss army officers in ski-equipped, three-place Fieseler Storch planes brought them and their baggage out yesterday in nine flights over the 10 miles between the airport at Meiringen, some 25 miles east of Interlaken, and the snowy perch on Gauli glacier.

The 12—an 11-year-old girl, two women, four army officers, three non-commissioned officers and a female civilian—had been in a battered hole in the glacier, 9,000 feet southeast of Interlaken, since the crash landing last Tuesday of a U. S. army C-53 Dakota transport plane enroute from Vienna to Pisa by way of Munich.

Live on Box Lunches

They had lived on box lunches for three days and, after those ran out, on candy bars they had found at the Munich post exchange and doled out one a day. They drank snow melted over pieces of gasoline, oil and parts of the plane, and had slept on blankets and the transport's seats and upholstery. Swiss mountain guides reported a three-foot snowfall had converted the cabin of the slightly damaged plane into a cozy "igloo" for them.

Not till Friday was the wreck located. Metal in the mountains deflected radio beams sent from the stricken plane and receiving operators got the impression it was 80 miles south of here.

Later, however, a correct "fix" on the position was obtained, and British and U. S. planes among the more than 100 searching spotted the group. Saturday 70 Swiss civilian and soldier mountain climbers in eight hours struggled from Meiringen out to the plane survivors, carrying litters.

Before the rescue party essayed the even more tortuous descent

Santa Writes Letter To Marion Youngsters Saying He Will Be Here for Parade Friday

North Pole
Nov. 25, 1946

HI THERE:

All you kids down there in Marion. I guess you know who this is talking. Its your old pal, Santa Claus, and its getting around that time of year again—or did you forget?

Well, I didn't forget, and I'm just going to make a little inspection tour down to your town. I'm leaving tmorrow and expect to be down there Friday about noon. They tell me there's going to be a big parade in my honor. And after the parade, Mrs. Santa Claus and myself are going to stop by the courthouse so you kids, under six, that is, can come up and give me an idea just what you'd like for Christmas.

Of course, I know you've been on your good behavior all year. Marion boys and girls are usually a pretty good bunch.

Guess you noticed I mentioned Mrs. Santa Claus a while ago. Never have taken her on these inspection trips before, but she just insisted on coming along to see if its true that you Marion kids are as good as I've always said you are.

I suppose you want to know how we're going to make the trip. You've probably heard a lot about how I've gone modern and am now jet propelled. Don't believe that stuff. I still use my reindeer, old Donner and Blitzen and the others and I guess I always will. It would break their hearts and mine to leave them home on the big night, or even on my inspection tours. Its all right for my assistants to zip around in rocket ships and the like—they have a lot of ground to cover—but for old Santa its the real thing or nothing. And don't worry about it being nothing.

Well, kids, I'm tuning up the reindeer and checking the oil on the sleigh's runners and it won't be long before its hi-ho and away. Don't go away—I'll be seeing you.

POPE SAYS "THIS IS AMERICA'S HOUR"

By The Associated Press

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 25—Declaring that "this is America's hour," Pope Pius XII in a broadcast yesterday urged American youth to "carry the torch of faith full-flaming to the ends of the earth."

The Pontiff, commemorating the martyrdom of Jesuit missionary Isaac Jogues and two companions killed 300 years ago by American Indians, told his radio audience in the United States:

"The martyr's message rings out across your blessed country, so providentially spared the horrors and destruction of other lands. From coast to coast, from the gulf to the northern frontier it is heard. Let men pause and hearken to its appeal. It is America's hour. The missions await the response."

The Pope's address, delivered in English, was directed primarily to a New York City meeting, attended by Francis Cardinal Spellman, following a mass celebrated in St. Patrick's Cathedral to observe the anniversary of the martyrdom.

The missionaries met death near Auriesville, N. Y., now the site of a shrine erected in their memory.

Pope Pius declared that the "message of missionary zeal" which the trio left behind is louder and more insistent at this hour when war and wars aftermath have decimated so many ranks of missionaries and clogged so many sources of mission help."

"May the youth, that American youth always so ready and eager to throw themselves into every worthy and eager venture, for whom obstacles are but a challenge to their courage, may they seize the torch of faith, girded by zeal in the peaceful pursuits of [illegible]" the Pontiff said.

The "aims" Rev. Falor included which are generally held important by young people are to "get knowledge" an aim which is essential to being prepared for life, but "knowledge is not complete," he stated, "until you come into the knowledge of God" He compared the various studies in school to the attributes of the character of God, and quoted the Bible admonition to "study to show thyself approved unto God." Another aim which he mentioned was listed as "possession," having "things" which he said should be made to serve the person rather than to be master, with the success of life measured "not by the rule of gold but by the golden rule" The aim to do something worthwhile, to be of service to others, will bring life's greatest blessings, he told his hearers This, and the aim to be something worthwhile in character are the highest aims for which to strive, and are attainable in the highest degree only "with Christ's help," he concluded.

Spurned Movie Star Offer

DAPHNE CAMPBELL

By The Associated Press

SYDNEY, Australia—A blonde outdoor girl in a remote northern Australian settlement of only 400 population has turned down a chance to become a movie star

Instead she married a local flier and now has set up housekeeping in Alice Springs, which is a far cry from Hollywood or the gilded capitals of the world which beckoned her to fame

When she made her choice blue-eyed, athletic Daphne Campbell turned down several big-time film offers from London

Daphne had a brief movie career when Harry Watt, British film director undertook to make a Michael Balcon wartime film in Australia called "The Overlanders" He tested 500 applicants for the starring role, but could find no one who filled the bill

Then he spotted Daphne, a corporal in the Australian equivalent of the WAC, in a Sydney department store Army authorities released her for the picture, and she spent months on location in isolated parts of Australia, traveling more than 4,000 miles

When the film was shown in London, Daphne was hailed as a potential star But she had already determined to get married Now she has a home and a baby at Alice Springs and helps her husband, Sam Calder, with his backcountry airline

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N BUNDESEN, M.D.

Kidney Stone

Amino acids are the substances from which the proteins found in such foods as milk, meat and eggs are formed, and into which they must be broken down again before the body can use them for its own building and repair jobs

One of these is a sulphur-containing amino acid known as cystine, which is present in the protein foods of a normal diet Ordinarily, the body uses cystine much as it uses any other of the many amino acids it must have for growth and repair of tissue

Occasionally, however, doctors run across an individual who seems unable to utilize this substance and instead secretes it in the urine This condition is known as cystinuria and, when it is present, stones made up of cystine may form in the kidney or bladder These stones are oval smooth and of a chalky-white or light-yellowish color They are soft and can be easily cut, like a piece of hard soap. They feel slightly greasy

If a person has a kidney or bladder stone it may be advisable to test the urine for the presence of cystine This can be done by examination of the urine under the microscope, when the crystals of cystine will be seen It may be necessary, when cystine stones are present, to remove them by means of operation

However, according to Dr G A Cawker of Montreal, other measures of treatment may aid in getting rid of the condition The patient is given plenty of fluids and a search is made for infections in the teeth tonsils, sinuses, or elsewhere in the body If any are found, they are cleared up with appropriate treatment The patient is given a diet rich in alkaline ash-forming foods and is also given alkaline substances such as mixtures of citrates and carbonates by mouth The amount of proteins in the diet is moderately reduced Dr Cawker noted no harmful effects from this treatment

Once the cystine stones have been removed, further stone formation can be prevented by following for one week of each month a high alkaline-ash and low protein diet with sufficient alkali by mouth to keep the urine alkaline

Of course, it must be remembered that not all kidney or bladder stones are made up of cystine In cases of other types of stones an alkaline-ash diet would not be useful, but might even be harmful. Thus, when stones occur, the physician must determine the type of chemical make-up, before deciding on what preventive measures may be best employed.

The common cold exists universally in all parts of the world among all races and classes of people in every climate

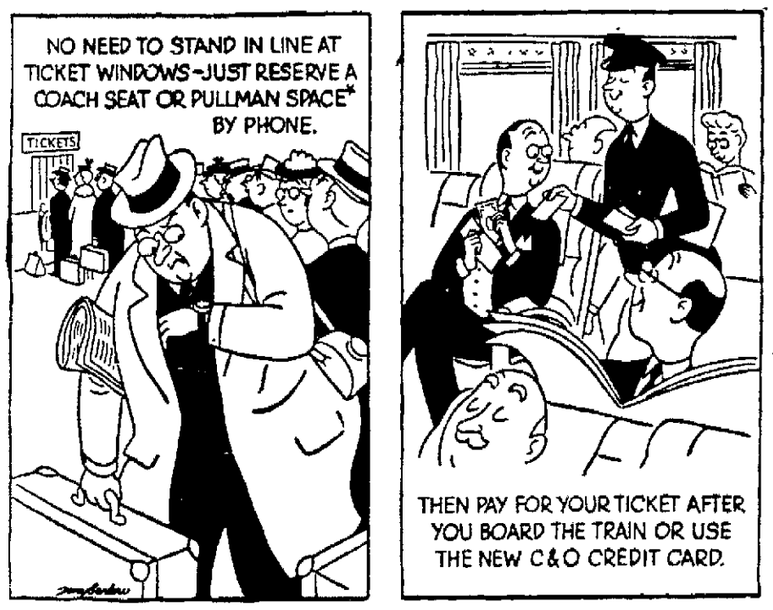
"PAY AS YOU GO" TRAIN TRAVEL!



NO NEED TO STAND IN LINE AT TICKET WINDOWS-JUST RESERVE A COACH SEAT OR PULLMAN SPACE* BY PHONE.
TICKETS
THEN PAY FOR YOUR TICKET AFTER YOU BOARD THE TRAIN OR USE THE NEW C&O CREDIT CARD.

This new optional service, now being worked out by the C & O, should be available in January.

WHY should the business of arranging a train trip be such a nuisance? Why should the traveler be put to a lot of trouble? Why shouldn't the railroad take the trouble?

Why should you have to stand in a ticket line, or send someone, often days in advance of your journey, just to get your tickets?

Why shouldn't you be able to reserve space by telephone, go right to your place on the train, then simply pay for your ticket en route?

The Chesapeake & Ohio asked itself these questions—and came up with the answer: "Pay as you go—on the C & O." Under this new plan you'll be able to phone in advance for either a coach seat or Pullman space.* You'll go straight to the train, take your reserved space, and pay for your ticket there or use the new C & O credit card which is now being planned.

Detailed arrangements for this new service are at present being worked out. The C & O is seeking the help of other organizations whose co-operation is needed. It is hoped and believed that you can "Pay as you go—on the C & O" in January.

Watch for the announcement. Plan to use this service in the territory served by the Chesapeake & Ohio. It will make the planning of your trips much quicker and simpler, and cost nothing extra. It will be the latest—but not the last—of many services rendered by the Chesapeake & Ohio to make rail travel more sensible and more enjoyable.

*A credit card will be necessary to hold Pullman space reserved by phone unless, of course, you want to buy your ticket in advance, for Pullman space carries a penalty if not used or properly canceled.

Citizen Delegates Chosen To Form Government of Soviets

(Eddy Gilmore, Associated Press bureau chief in Moscow, has been an American correspondent in the Soviet Union for more than five years. Back in the United States on a recent vacation trip, he found Americans intensely interested in Russia. He received hundreds of letters and met a steady flow of questions on elementary facts about Russia and the Russians—how they lived, worked and played and how they ruled themselves. In this series of five stories, touching almost every phase of Russian life, Gilmore tells those facts and others of interest to people beyond the borders of the Russian union—the largest country in the world.)

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW, Nov. 25—The name of the vast country — the biggest in the world — stretching from the Danube to the Pacific, is not Russia, but the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, which has been shortened to Soviet Russia.

The U. S. S. R. is composed of 16 republics of which the Russian Soviet Federated Socialist Republic is by far the largest, having its western frontier on the Baltic sea, its southern in China, its northern in the Arctic ocean and its easternmost boundary on the Bering straits.

The U. S. S. R. has two governing houses — the council of the union and the council of nationalities. Together they are called the Supreme Council of the Supreme Soviet.

Based on Population

In the council of union representation is based upon population. In the council of nationalities the smallest republic has the same numerical representation as the largest.

The Supreme Soviet has a presidium. When the full council is not sitting it has the authority to issue decrees based upon eventual ratification by both houses.

The U. S. S. R. constitution calls for general elections every four years. All well known Russian leaders are members of one of two houses. Generalissimo Stalin represents a Moscow district.

After its election the Supreme Soviet designates some one to form a government. In February this year it requested Stalin to do so. Stalin was designated and approved as chairman of the council of ministers. Then the vice chairman of the council of ministers. The ministers and their vice chairman were named.

Communists Only Party

The government consists of members of the Communist party and non members. There is no other political party in the U. S. S. R.

Mikolai M. Shvernik is chairman of the presidium of the Supreme Soviet. This makes him the official head of the state.

The central committee of the Communist party has a general secretary, Stalin holds this office. Other secretaries are Zhdanov, Malenkov, A. Kuznetsov and G. M. Popov.

The Communist party has a political bureau shortened in name to Politburo. Its members are Stalin, Molotov, Zhdanov, Beria, Voroshilov, Andreev, Malenkov, Kaganolch, Mioyan and Khrubschev.

The presidium of the Supreme Soviet is composed of all kinds of Soviets from all parts of the U. S. S. R. It includes Russians, Georgians, Ukrainians and others.

Has Great Powers

The presidium has great powers. When the Supreme Soviet is not sitting, it passes decrees, interprets laws, ratifies treaties, gives decorations and grants pardons. Should the U. S. S. R. be attacked, it can declare war.

The U. S. S. R. has hundreds of soviets—some of them consisting of as few as 15 members in a village to one of over 2,000 members in Moscow. They all have delegates. These are not professional office holders, but farmers, laborers, artists, engine drivers, oil drillers, engineers, professors, generals and others.

Women not only vote in the Soviet Union but hold offices in the Supreme Soviet, in the government offices and in the party. There is no poll tax and every person 18 years or over not only can, but almost always does vote for candidates nominated at thousands of pre-election meetings all over the U. S. S. R. Both Communists and non-Communists are among the nominees.

Answers Frequent Question

I often have asked the question: What can the man in the street or his wife do about taking up some personal matter with the government?

President Shvernik, just as his predecessor, the late Mikhail Kalinin, the deputies in the Supreme Soviet, and quite often, even Stalin himself, consider and act upon personal problems brought directly to their attention by individual citizens.

For evidence one has only to look at the long lineup daily at President Shvernik's office across the street from the Kremlin.

The people who make up the U. S. S.R. speak many languages, practice more than 40 religions, and number some 193,000,000 persons. The country occupies one-sixth of the earth's surface.

First of All, Buy Christmas Seals

TODAY one of Marion county's most important annual public welfare services gets under way as Christmas health seals are mailed to residents of the community. Accompanying the seals is a letter inviting the recipient to purchase them as a contribution to the great work being carried on in the never ceasing fight against tuberculosis. There is every reason to believe that the response will be prompt and generous, probably setting a new high mark in Marion county's support of this tremendously important work to safeguard the health and lives of the American people.

This includes, of course, the health and lives of you and your family, for no one is immune to attack from the insidious enemy known as tuberculosis. Maximum security is possible only through constant warfare waged by the nation-wide forces of medical and health experts who have been centering time and effort in the work over a long period of years. In order that the service may be continued with increasing effectiveness, means must be provided through the annual sale of Christmas health seals.

Remarkable progress has been made against tuberculosis since the start of the campaign approximately 40 years ago, resulting in a tremendous reduction in the death toll. Complete victory, however, is far from being achieved. Deaths from the disease now average about 55,000 annually but this figure would be vastly higher were it not for improved methods of care and treatment which have resulted largely from study and research conducted in the program financed through the sale of Christmas seals.

In this community the work is under direction of the Marion County Anti-Tuberculosis league, made up of physicians, health authorities and citizens who are not only a part of the national organization but who give special attention to carrying on a year-round fight against the disease in their home community.

Buy your share of Christmas seals now as one of the best possible expressions of the Yuletide spirit. No other purchase made during this season of good-will and generosity will be of greater value.

Once Too Often

EIGHT times in five years John L. Lewis has given the prearranged signal for members of his United Mine Workers to leave their jobs.

Eight times in five years the nation has made a frantic adjustment to the dislocation of its basic fuel supply. Each time it has hoped, as it still hopes now, that there might be no further emergencies in the coal industry.

It is deeply significant that the public as a whole has remained sympathetic to miners. Their work is dangerous and unpleasant. Mechanization has eased their toil, but they still work hard. The public does not begrudge them the higher wages and better working and living conditions their collective action has brought about, but the public has become increasingly resentful of their too frequent work stoppages. It cannot believe that so many interruptions of work are necessary.

The present coal strike was called under circumstances which suggest that Mr. Lewis was more concerned with the power politics of labor unionism than with the welfare of miners or the welfare of the coal industry from which miners draw their livelihood. It is doubtful if miners themselves comprehend what is going on; they are following a Pied Piper. Because they believe in Mr. Lewis, they are not working. They are confident that he can win more concessions for them, as he always has won them before.

The miners are sacrificing public sympathy and support. They are striking against their government to help their leader prove a point. They are striking against the public because their leader gave them the signal to stop work. There was no strike vote, only a personal decision. One man, acting in their name, has amassed the power of life and death over a nation and used the power once too often. He has made it clear that such power cannot be tolerated.

Appraised from their published photograph, three Canadian women waiting to be hanged would pass as comely under more favorable circumstances, indicating that jurors up in the north country base their judgment on what they hear rather than what they see.

We are advised to understand Russia, which is fair and reasonable enough as long as the request omits Stalin.

History records that John L. Sullivan was knocked out completely and decisively after approximately 10 years during which he seemed to be unconquerable. It's an odd coincidence, and let us hope, a significant one, that the John L. of 1946 has also been mowing down all adversaries for just about 10 years.

News Behind the News

CIO Guesses at Profits and Calls for Share.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—CIO President Phil Murray calculates publicly that next year's corporate profits will be $9,500,000,000 (six billion nine hundred million) presumably the same statisticians who have been wrong on everything else so far including their expectation of widespread unemployment after the wars. This is the highest profit in all history, says Mr. Murray, so CIO will demand a general wage increase without inflationary price increases—forgetting that everyone heard that before this very year, when wage increases to CIO resulted in strenuous price increases to the public, and still are in autos. So Mr. Murray's CIO laid down a wage boost program to get a general minimum increase of 20 cents an hour (it will be more he says if prices do not go down) and get $2,500,000,000 more for 6,000,000 members.

The CIO thus announces its plans for plainly unwise action, and its leadership publicly proposes getting the country into some very sad economic trouble, on the basis of reasoning which would hardly fool a 10-year-old child, much less a working CIO adult.

As they might say down on the farm, Mr. Murray has figured out the profit of a calf yet unborn, what it will be sold at a year from now, at a time when the mother has been weakening under stress—and is preparing to demand a share he fixes for himself in fabulous unreasonableness in advance.

Stock Market View

The seriousness of advancing such a weak proposition into the national economic picture can be demonstrated by plain, observable indisputable facts, to wit:

The stock market, in which a man risks his own cash money and won or lose what he has on his good or bad judgment, takes an entirely different view of expected profits. The stock market has been going down for some months largely in fear of what Mr. Murray and the CIO may do to profits.

A profit is something you have earned not something you may or may not get. Mr. Murray ventured any mention of what profits are now—with Ford estimating a loss for the first nine months of $51 millions and General Motors increasing car prices another $100 because it cannot operate at current costs. If he had mentioned them he would have disclosed economic ground for a wage reduction. These losses are considerably due to the 120-day CIO strike in the motor industry and the continuing strikes as a whole in the industry as well as due to the materials shortages (for which other strikes are partly responsible).

Anyone can see this, and all profits economists have. If the CIO goes on another 120-day strike next year to get a minimum 20 cents an hour wage boost, there may not be any profits again. How is General Motors going to sell cars on the promise of a year's delivery, when the CIO lays out a program which looks as if it would cause a strike and force maybe two years delivery or more? The strikers are now striking against themselves, and the economics they lay down propose to work against their own best interests. If they cannot sell cars before money runs low, they cannot even make as much wage as at present, and their program prevents them from selling. This is just plain dum (no "b" please) union leadership, against which the union man, now working part time because of other strikes and shortages, has no chance because he must do what the union leaders say or lose his job entirely.

Silly Economics

That kind of economics is just plain crimine. Murray cannot possibly know how much anyone will make next year. The employer or his own CIO worker. To imagine a stupendous figure for the future, and then plan a wage-boosting campaign on that basis, is so ridiculous he will have a hard time finding his most ardent supporters, and will actually prevent realization of his imaginations. Such foolishness should be stopped in an economic crisis, and Murray should be the first to stop it, because he has more to lose (for his workers) have) from thus killing a calf before it is born.

A constructive CIO economic program, based on realities, would have helped accomplish his goal. If he had just said there will be no strikes in 1947, that labor must lose most from inflation, that his workers would get together and furnish production to the country, and try to hold a reasonable price line and certainly would not try to force prices any higher, that he wanted stable wages and prices, not an ever rising spiral, but that labor had a responsibility to itself and the country to work and produce and make money before claiming a share in it—or even if he had said if industry makes big profits next year, he will expect a settling in bonuses or increases, after the profits are made—if he had said anything like any of these things, you would have seen this country rise up in approval and hope. He might win then, something for the employe and something for himself.

Prodigal Pretzel Beyond Purification?

The National Pretzel Bakers Institute has set out to redeem the reputation of its product.

That will be the most notable reformation since the James boys hit the sawdust trail.

John L. Lewis asking for less money I had thought maybe to live to see . but never the pretzel on the straight and narrow.

Not, of course, that the pretzel isn't really both good and wholesome. It's just that one becomes known by the company one keeps.

Sweet Adeline was accepted everywhere before she got to running around with that barroom and barbershop crowd.

In time, to be sure, pretzels may be served with punch and equanimity at church suppers and Anti-Saloon League teas.

But not soon the road to rehabilitation is rocky and long.

Strikes Upset World Economy

World Bank Head Sees Peace Threatened.

THE worldwide effect of strikes in the United States has been to cause economic starvation in other nations, Eugene Meyer, president of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development told the Academy of Political Science in a recent speech.

Pointing out that economic circumstances set the stage for political action, Mr. Meyer urged the Academy to consider taking an active part in trying to improve labor relations. "Stoppages of production here at home," he declared, "have reduced the supply of many of the materials needed to restore a minimum of economic life abroad. This industrial starvation will remain acute as long as our production is restricted. Even the world's food supply has been curtailed by stoppages of our production of agricultural implements, fertilizers, coal, automobile trucks and other means of transportation and of electrical and mining machinery and many other things. In depriving other peoples of the tools they need for reconstruction, we are threatening world recovery and condemning vast numbers of human beings to serious deprivation."

Mr. Meyer said he believed if the United States had produced what it was able to produce, it could have had more of everything at home than it has had since the end of the war, with enough left over to export most of what was needed abroad. As it is, he pointed out, economic starvation abroad is threatening the security that some Americans believe they are winning at home by driving hard bargains in the conduct of labor relations. "We must find a way of settling our labor disputes," he declared, "without the disastrous strikes which bring about world starvation in a broader sense than the mere withholding of food."

He explained that the role of the International Bank was to use credit for restoration of war-weakened economies — not in competition with private capital, but in conjunction with it. "It was taken for granted," he recalled, "that with our vast productive capacity the materials for worldwide reconstruction would be available if only the financial machinery for adequate loans were available. Our failure to produce these materials as rapidly as was expected has now created a bottleneck of serious proportions."

Pointing to the serious effects of a coal strike last spring, a major cause of the industrial slowdown, he predicted that the prospect for international peace would be dimmed materially if another stoppage of coal production happened this winter. National and world stability are threatened by a shortage of materials for reconstruction, he told the Academy of Political Science, recommending that its members should make the immediate need of raising American industrial production a research project.

20th Century Steel

(From Steel Facts)

Nearly 1,910,000,000 net tons of steel ingots and steel for castings were produced in the United States from January, 1901, through August, 1946.

Almost one-third of that large tonnage of steel has been turned out since Jan. 1, 1938. Twenty-seven years were required to produce the first 50 percent of the total tonnage, while only 18 years and eight months were required to produce the second half of the steel. The one-billionth ton was made in the latter part of 1929.

The steel industry's capacity has generally been above the tonnages produced. In certain periods, however, the tonnage produced exceeded the estimated productive capacity of the industry. The explanation is that the rated aggregate capacity of the industry does not include long-idle furnaces and makes allowances for the necessary, periodic relining, rebuilding and otherwise repairing of steel-making furnaces. In periods of urgent demands for steel, as during the war, long-idle equipment was put into service.

The two-billionth ton of steel of the 20th century will be produced before 1950. The last quarter of this year should add another 15 to 20 million tons to the above stated total. The steel industry's present annual capacity is around 91,890,500 net tons of ingots and steel for castings.

"THE ICEMAN COMETH"

One Excess Begets Another

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—It can be written down as virtually certain that the consequences to the labor movement and the country will be downright appalling, if the trouble in coal becomes the prelude to another long period of struggle between labor and industry. The labor movement will be the first sufferer. The many Americans who are now anti-labor will no doubt be pleased by the congressional excesses that are sure to be stimulated by another grave strike wave. But in politics, as in physics, every action begets a compensating reaction. And in the end, everyone will suffer alike for any excesses that may be committed in the next months.

The foregoing is no mere statement of editorial opinion. It is only necessary to add up the facts to find out where the matter stands today. The addition may be made as follows:

1. The program of wage rises decided upon at the CIO convention makes another serious strike wave quite unavoidable, if acted upon.

2. President Truman, who must in the first instance deal with strikes of national consequence, and ultimately approve or disapprove congressional action on labor matters, is now known to have been deeply and adversely affected by his experience of the labor problem since taking office. One of the closest to him has described his mood as "pretty close to plain anti-labor already, and sure to get more so if there is more trouble."

3. The mood of the President is mild indeed compared to the mood of the congress.

Prediction on Legislation

To ascertain the congressional mood, your correspondents have recently been taking rather careful soundings among senators and congressmen who have been in Washington since the election. To anyone who believes that excess on one side inevitably leads to excess on the other, and feels that all excesses are bad for the country, the results of these soundings must be profoundly disturbing. Take, for example, a conversation with a Republican senator who normally belongs to the middle group of his party, and has shown himself in the past more intelligent than most.

This senator predicted off-the-record that the Ball anti-open shop bill would certainly pass, together with a stern version of the Case bill. But this, he opined, would not be "enough to redress the balance between labor and management. The first step, he explained, was to rewrite the Wagner labor relations act from start to finish. The next, he added cheerfully, was to replace the personnel of the national labor relations board, who are regarded as being too sympathetic to the trade unions, and at the same time to transfer as many as possible of the NLRB functions to the courts. But even this was not enough.

"A few unions will have to be broken to bring them to their senses," he said.

Sees Possible Violence

This remarkable statement represented a serious conviction of a supposedly responsible lawmaker. It was, moreover, a conviction that he had acted on. He stated frankly that he had told his industrialist friends they "must stand firm, and see the fight through to the end." He accepts the fact that revision of the labor laws in the sense he has in mind will induce something very like a national civil war, with many bitter strikes attended by much violence. But even the draconic program of legislation and action already outlined does not entirely satisfy him. He is toying with the idea of legislation forbidding collective bargaining on an industry-wide basis, and confining the right to strike to disputes between the workers in a single plant and their employer.

As has already been reported in this space, the real Republican leader in congress, Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, is laboring to prevent his colleagues from going to such extremes. But the senator quoted above has plenty of like-minded friends in both senate and house. Given the hysteria which is sure to be generated by a strike wave, Taft will hardly be able to hold his cohorts to the line he has laid down.

The truth of this is only too clearly demonstrated in the house. The house Republicans are even more anxious to take punitive measures than the Republicans in the senate, as was shown at the time of the Case bill episode last year. And this very labor issue has caused at least 70 of the house Democrats from the South to rebel against the leadership of Representative John W. McCormack of Massachusetts. The southerners' candidate for the leadership is Representative Eugene Cox, although some actually mention the incredible Rankin for the post. Former Speaker Sam Rayburn, who could put an end to the trouble by accepting the leadership himself, is adamant that he will not do so, despite repeated presidential and other telephone calls to his retreat in Bonham, Texas. And the two men most widely mentioned as compromise choices are Representative Frank Walter of Pennsylvania and Representative Ewing Thomason of Texas. The former has a record not very different from that of Cox himself. The latter is a much abler and more moderate man, but voted for the Case bill and many of the OPA amendments.

All of which indicate, of course, that the cause of labor has been almost wholly deprived of protectors within the government. With the congress violent already, and the President at least very peevish and likely to become more so, literally any kind of legislation has a chance of reaching the statute books.

If Some Modern Statesman Delivered It

THE anniversary of Lincoln's deathless Gettysburg address was observed a few days ago. How it shines out in spirit against the run of mill speeches of today!

We got to thinking about this, trying to imagine a number of present day leaders confining themselves to a few brief paragraphs, keeping to the subject and at no time abusing anybody! And we couldn't escape the conclusion that in the same spot they would have made a speech something after this fashion:

"Hello, everybody. Four score and seven years ago, our fathers (or those who were Americans, not dirty reactionaries), brought forth on this continent a new nation conceived in liberty—and I didn't mean the kind of liberty certain elements think of—and dedicated to the proposition that all men who vote right are created equal, with certain exceptions that I do not need to mention now.

"Now we are engaged in a great civil war into which we may or may not have been dragged, testing whether that nation or any nation so conceived and so dedicated can long endure, the capitalistic setup being what it is in this country at the present moment.

"We have come to dedicate a portion of that field—and I say that the million dollars expended so far for that field should be thoroughly investigated—as a final resting place of those who here gave their lives that this nation might live. And don't be deceived by the press which is corrupt in every fibre and will color every report of this speech to suit the special interests. Those newspaper publishers don't want the public to know what's going on here at Gettysburg. Do I make myself clear?

"But in a larger sense we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground, and anybody who tries to tell you otherwise is a scoundrel and a unhorn. The brave men living and dead who struggled here have consecrated it far beyond our power to add or detract, and I defy my mealy mouthed opponents and their Wall street allies to say otherwise.

* * *

"The world will little note nor long remember (the press being what it is) what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here and although concerted efforts to make it do so will be made by the vested interests the N.A.M.A. and all those fellows. It is rather that we the living dedicate ourselves to the task of remaining before us . . . that this nation, under God, and the party for which I speak, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people and for shorter hours, more dough and picnic programs shall not perish from the earth! Get me?"

HURRAH FOR MRS. POLLOCK

Three cheers for Mrs. Janice Pollock, the Columbus wife and mother who won the Mrs. America title. She has four kids and a husband. And she passed up the title and a six-months' glorification tour of America because she thought they needed her at home. We have not observed behavior such as this by an American woman, in the face of widespread publicity, unlimited photography and general glamorization, in all history.

Now that the latest invention, the automobile telephone, is in operation, we expect to hear any day of the fellow who drives into the service station and says "Run over this car, will ya? I think my telephone is skipping."

Maxwell Anderson's "Joan of Lorraine" is a smash hit, and it's great to find it so, after the far too brutal criticisms of his previous "Truckline Cafe." This play within a play, with Ingrid Bergman, giving a beautiful performance, is one of the most uplifting things in the theater.

In conection with that new auto-telephone service, Ima Dodo called up to find out how many calls a car gives to the gallon.

Smogbound in 1946

By TRUMAN TWILL

ONCE upon a time in the days of King John Lewis, coal used to be burned in furnaces for the purpose of making heat and smoke, but mostly smoke.

The smoke swooshed out of the furnaces by means of vertical funnels called chimneys, which disappeared after the advent of flying airplanes because reckless drivers kept knocking them down. They would have disappeared anyway because even then sceintists were learning how to make heat without smoke in various ways, chiefly by releasing atomic energy. King John saw this coming, but was unable to stop it.

Living conditions in towns were intolerable in those seasons of the year when atmospheric condition known as smoke that left its mark on everything blown away. There was a special kind of condition known as smok that left its mark on civilization for generations.

Smog was a combination of smoke and fog, a creamy mixture that clogged the nasal passages and stuck to everything it came in contact with such as the teeth, bald heads, shirt collars, exposed skin, clothing and the lungs.

When drawn into the lungs it was precipitated into its component parts, namely soot and moisture. The soot remained behind in the lungs and the moisture was expelled with the breath. Gradually, the lungs filled up with soot and the victims died, usually before their time.

It was a horrible end, preceded by years of snuffling and expectorating as the smog sufferers struggled to free themselves from the impurities they were breathing. Many of them were prey to a condition described loosely as sinusitis, and in the ignorance of the time called themselves sinus sufferers. In reality, of course, they were coal smoke sufferers, but in those days it took a brave man to ask whether the coal was worth the sinusitis because the coal industry was regarded as untouchable. King John used to make a good thing out of the attitude, and so did the coal barons, his enemies.

In time, however, there came to be a revolt of attitude. More and more people came to the end of their lungs and had everything to gain and nothing to lose by crying out sharply against the system of producing heat that produced pneumonia among human beings.

There was, in fact, one famous occasion when King John made the strategic error of going into pitched battle with the coal barons and the government, which was caught in the middle, while a heavy smog was hanging over nearly all the towns in the sinus, or coal belt. The sniffing, red-eyed public couldn't see the humor ing on account of the smog and became confused. It thought the issue was whether there should be more fresh air for human beings and began to throw mortality statistics at both belligerents, to the end that they were routed.

This was regarded as catastrophic at the time, but it opened up a lot of plugged sinuses and from then on everybody breathed happily ever after. After all, people had to breathe to stay alive whether the coal industry liked it or not.

Average per capita income in the United States in 1940 was $573 per year. In 1945 it was $1,158.

Backward Children Not Always Dumb

By The United Press

LINCOLN Neb—The so-called large, backward boy who hovers in one grade for several years running may be brighter than many of his classmates who jibe at him

That's what Dr. D A Worcester, director of the University of Nebraska educational psychology clinic, says. Ten years of experience in testing 6 000 children backs his unusual viewpoint.

"Many children are labeled 'dull' in our public schools because of remediable defects" the psychologist declares Most common of these are speech hearing and sight deficiencies and certain mental blocks

Quite often these defects show in the form of faulty reading he says. Worcester recently found five distinct types of reading faults in tests at a small Nebraska school.

The causes were:

1. Sub-normal intelligence which made tasks meaningless
2. Inability to recognize printed words used in a large conversational vocabulary
3. Too rapid and too careless reading habit
4. Absence of study habits because of too much help from an ambitious mother.
5. Serious speech defects retarding reading

GI Beer Bottles Save Babies in Germany

By The United Press

WASHINGTON — The American Red Cross reports that its recreation workers in occupied Germany have a new job—collecting GI beer bottles for use as nursing bottles for babies of displaced persons.

There is an acute shortage of baby bottles and the beer bottles are the only ones on which the supply of German rubber nipples will fit. Red Cross recreation centers do not permit beer on the premises, but bins are being put up asking soldiers to deposit the empty bottles from the post exchanges.

2 POLICEMEN FINED FOR ILLEGAL RAIDS

By The Associated Press

TACOMA, Wash Nov 25—Two additional Tacoma patrolmen were stripped of their badges early today for participation in unauthorized raids Police Chief Percy J Gregg said

The latest action followed a similar move against 10 officers for "vigilante" raids carried out Saturday night

More than a score of persons were arrested in Sunday night's raids and charged with being drunk, disorderly or illegally retailing liquor.

The two patrolmen suspended for the latest raids were accompanied on their sorties against two establishments by four of the participants in Saturday's actions The said they were acting as 'civilian witnesses"

Rev Loyal Vickers, head of the Tacoma council of churches and Robert Copeland, Tacoma attorney retained by the 'vigilantes' in their difficulty with the administration, also accompanied the raiding parties

Gregg said further action against the participants would be up to Police Commissioner Robert S Temme

All of the officers participating in the sorties were members of the 40-man squad which staged similar off-duty raids last March 28

Subsequent to the March raids most of the officers participating were placed on night or 'owl' shifts or transferred to outlying precincts

Triple Threat Jinx Besets Cattleman

By The United Press

DALHART, Tex. — Ali Albert Lee could say was: "I was just jinxed."

The 48-year-old Stratford cattleman suffered a triple blow within the space of 24 hours.

On a Sunday afternoon drive, he had to turn into a bridge railing to avoid a noncoming truck. Lee's car slithered into an abutment and nosed into the dirt, badly damaged. He was bruised about the body and cut deeply on the forehead.

He declined to go to the hospital.

After reaching town and before he could send some one after his car, it was ransacked of all personal valuables, a tire was stolen and across the trunk was written: "Kilroy was here."

The next day, weary and a bit bitter, he started to get into a friend's car when he slipped. It shouldn't have been much of an accident, but Lee's ankle was fractured.

He gave up then and went to the hospital.

Mackenzie Sees Grave Dangers In Greek War

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

DewittMackenzie

... the al- ... Greek iron- ... Yugoslav- ... ese inform- ... delayed ... because he ... ew issues ... e Western ... Greek war ... peared in ... has decided ... ndependence and ... t. We can- ... n system, ... our character ... However, Premier Tsaldaris, after conferring with the King of the Mellenes, said he didn't "know when, where and if" a Greek complaint of border violations would be lodged with the UN. He added that this hinges on "developments in the course of evolution."

One wonders whether this means the premier has been advised by England to go slow with complaints, because Europe already is running a fever. But that's merely speculation on my part—based on the undoubted fact that the Balkans are seething and that an outbreak of war there could precipitate another global conflict.

No Telescope Needed

You don't need a telescope to see what is going on there. Greece is the last of the countries on the Balkan peninsula not communized and under the control of Moscow. Greece's entire northern frontier lies up against red territory—Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria.

Romania came even more solidly into the Soviet ranks last week through her general election which was announced as having registered a red majority.

Minister of War Dragoumis after visiting northern Greece charged that the disorders in Macedonia and western Thrace was "inspired and directed" by agents trained in Yugoslavia and moved into Greece by three routes: through Albania, directly from Yugoslavia, and into Thrace through the mountainous area near our eastern frontier"—that is, from Bulgaria.

First Class War Seen

There you have the makings of a first-class Balkan war. As a matter of fact, if General Dragoumis has his information straight, the war already is under way to all intents. In any event, there is rebellious violence in many parts of Greece, quite apart from anything which might come down on her from the red north.

There can be no possible doubt that the Balkan Communists intend to bring Greece into their fold if it is humanly possible. Greece is a highly strategic base militarily—among other things representing Britain's only toehold in on Balkan peninsula.

The big question of course is this: what attitude would Russia and England adopt if Greece should become embroiled in war with her sovietized neighbors on the north? It is conceivable that both great powers might announce a hands-off policy, knowing full well that if either of them made a hostile move the Third World War would be under way. In that case unhappy little Greece would be swallowed up.

Would Britain stand for that? It's safe to say the answer to this question is being sought by the chancelleries of many nations. One thing seems very sure—that the sovietized neighbors of Greece will gamble daringly in an effort to communize her.

Hundreds Hunt Rooms While Landlords Keep Properties Vacant.

By WILLIAM C. BARNHARD
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 25—In this crowded Texas city, where classified columns daily plead the urgent need of housing, hundreds of rooms, apartments and residences are empty. Landlords are waiting for abolishment of the OPA.

Mrs. Frank Morris, 55-year-old Dallas clubwoman, president of the statewide Landlords Incorporated and the local property owners and association, is leading the militant drive against the government agency.

"This is a quiet strike," she said. "Mostly, there have been no evictions. When tenants move out, doors are locked and stay that way. At least 3,000 Dallas housing units now are being withheld. The landlords aren't fooling."

Owns No Property

Mrs. Morris owns no rental property but feels rent control is "undemocratic, unconstitutional and is cheating homecoming veterans out of a place to live." Her only son, a radio operator, was lost in a B-17 raid over Germany.

"I am fighting the OPA," she explained, "because I want this country to be worthy of his sacrifice."

Wearing a fuchsia dress and pancake hat of similar hue, Mrs. Morris guided me on a tour that took in dozens of ghost apartments and houses—places marked by untended yards and drawn shades.

We called on Joe H. Blain, totally disabled by heart trouble as a result of German shellfire in the First World War. He said he had sold a duplex and a triplex because of burdensome controls and that a five-room rent-cottage would stay empty until "the government restores property to landlords."

Once Accommodated 18

He lay abed in his own unit of his otherwise empty apartment house which, until last March, accommodated 18 other tenants. Last February he got into a price squabble with OPA and the agency obtained a $289 federal court judgment against him.

Landlords Incorporated, organized only two weeks ago, already has affiliated organizations in other Texas cities, including San Antonio, Palestine, San Angelo, Fort Worth, Galveston, Vernon, Monahans, Corpus Christi and Waco.

The picture has another side. Former Cpl. Dan Malcik, veteran of Corregidor and Bataan's death march, a man scarred from three and one-half years of Japanese lashings, is desperately hunting an apartment in this city. His wife is staying with friends. On another side of town he shares a room with a relative. All day, while Malcik works at a steel company, Mrs. Malcik trudges Dallas streets, knocking at every door, hoping for the tip that will provide living quarters.

"I've been doing this every day for weeks," she said, "but I haven't even had a nibble—not one—not a thing to give me hope. I don't mind for myself but after what my husband went through I wish someone would show a little mercy."

MRP Leader Reports Communist Bid for Government Fails.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Nov. 25—Revised figures tonight put President Georges Bidault's MRP ahead in the French parliamentary elections, and an MRP leader declared the Communist bid for leadership of the Fourth Republic "has been rebuffed."

* * *

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Nov. 25—French Communists appeared today to have strengthened their claim to leadership of the Fourth Republic's first government by their showing in yesterday's parliamentary election.

Nearly complete returns from the balloting for 83,751 electors to help choose parliament's upper house, the council of the republic, put the Communists slightly ahead of the centrist Popular Republican Movement (MRP) in the number of electors named.

The tabulation gave the Communists 24,721 electors, MRP 24,446, Socialists 14,280, Radical-Socialists 8,381 and rightist bloc of the Republican Party of Liberty (PRL) 11,742.

Interior ministry figures for 68 of the 91 departments showed that in popular votes, however, the MRP was leading the Communists, 3,839,835 to 3,736,077.

The Communists have based their bid to name the premier on their victory in the Nov. 10 election, when they won 180 of the 618 seats in the national assembly, the lower house of parliament, to the MRP's 162 and the Socialists' 101.

The incumbent president, MRP leader Georges Bidault, and his cabinet will submit their resignations to the assembly Thursday.

It remains to be seen whether the cabinet will be asked to stay in office until the council of the republic is seated Dec. 24 or whether a new government will be formed on the basis of the last fortnight's two elections.

PIPELINE

125,000,000 cubic feet of gas is equivalent in heat value to about 4,400 tons of coal, and that 180,000,000 cubic feet is equal to about 6,500 tons.

The normal daily coal output of the mines is 2,225,000 tons.

The witness, whose company has offered the war assets administration $92,000,000 cash for the two lines, said Transcontinental is "ready and willing" to operate the lines for the transmission of natural gas on an emergency basis.

Williams estimated total capacity of the two lines at 425,000,000 cubic feet. This, he said, is equivalent to about three per cent of the coal consumed in the New York, Philadelphia and Newark areas.

Williams said the gas could be used for mixing with artificial gas in the New York, Philadelphia, and Newark areas, which would mean, he said, that no adjustments would be necessary in existing gas-burning equipment in those cities.

A companion question for the committee is whether sale of the pipelines for oil transmission would jeopardize sale of half billion dollars worth of surplus tankers.

Witnesses, including a vice president of the Standard Oil Co. of Ohio, have told the committee that if the pipelines were used for petroleum transmission a large part of the tanker fleet operating between the Gulf of Mexico and the eastern seaboard will be displaced.

For this and other reasons they argued that WAA should sell the lines for the transportation of natural gas, which can be carried only in pipelines.

Lewis Trial Set Wednesday

ria-La Guardia anti-injunction act forbids the use of restraining orders in the coal dispute.

"If the defendants question the court's jurisdiction because they erroneously contend that the act is applicable, such an objection would at best be only an arguable contention which would pose an issue for decision by the court.

"Pending a decision of that very issue, the court was and is clearly impowered to protect its jurisdiction to pass on the question."

Within Judicial Rights

In other words, the government argument ran, no matter what final disposition is made of the case, Goldsborough was clearly within his jurisdiction in issuing the order against Lewis and has the power and jurisdiction to compel its enforcement and punish any one "who willfully fails and refuses to comply."

The government is informed that Lewis and his union chiefs "have not purged themselves," the brief added. Simply failing to act or "merely remaining at rest" provides no defense for "the disobedience of an order of the court which requires defendants to act," the chief declared.

"Equity courts generally have power to issue mandatory injunctions, the power of this court to issue a temporary restraining order, such as that in this case, is clear under well settled authority."

Failed To Purge Selves

"Plainly, until now," the brief concluded, "defendants have failed to purge themselves of the alleged contempt since they have filed and refused to take the action required by the temporary restraining order issued this court.

"In view of the foregoing, it is requested that the court order a trial on the alleged contempt to be held at 10 a. m. on Nov. 27, 1946, as directed * * *"

The United Mine Workers' leader arrived at the district court shortly before 10 a. m. to answer the citation.

Flanked by Attorneys

He was flanked by UMW attorneys directing the union chief's strategy in the legal fight.

Before the hearing, a high official told a reporter the government's primary aim is not to punish Lewis by a jail term, but to make a shatterproof showing that the strike of 400,000 of Lewis- United Mine Workers is illegal, and thus to persuade them back to the coal pits.

If this fails and if Lewis is found guilty of contempt of court, said one government attorney, an appropriate penalty would be a "whopping fine against the union and a relatively lighter one against Lewis."

Penalty Up to Judge

Should that develop, the question of penalty, however, would be one solely for Federal District Judge T. Alan Goldsborough who on last Monday issued an order directing Lewis to rescind his "termination" of the miners' contract with the government.

It was Lewis' disregard for the order which led Judge Goldsborough to cite the miners' chieftain for contempt.

With the mines shut only since last Wednesday midnight, repercussions already were widespread.

Steelworkers and factory hands by the hundreds of thousands faced layoffs because of dwindling coal piles.

Eye Own Coal Bins

Householders anxiously eyed their own bins while a spell of winter weather swept eastward from the Rockies.

A dimout more drastic than in wartime was ordered into effect in 21 states tonight, and coal burning railroads slashed passenger service 25 per cent.

All governors were asked by Secretary of the Interior Krug to set up machinery whereby cities could ration coal and close schools, if need be. Mayor William O'Dwyer, reversing an earlier stand, called on New York citizens to suspend needless lighting. But Georgia's Governor Ellis Arnall, in a statement, said light-saving wasn't the answer—that Krug and President Truman should "get busy and settle the strike."

Special Session Asked

Demands continued for a special session of congress. Former secretary of the Interior Ickes last night broadcast a call for prompt legislation which could "curb the impudence of a dictator, such as Lewis." He said the government should ask dismissal of its order restraining a coal strike; in other words, abandon the court effort an rely on a special, lame-duck session.

But Senator Elbert Thomas (D-Utah) expressed what apparently was the administration view at this moment. "No law, short of withdrawal of the right to strike, could affect the present situation," he said in another radio talk.

President Truman withheld comment.

SURVIVORS

to safety, Maj. Pista Hitz and Capt. Victor Hug of the Swiss army landed their tiny planes on the glacier and began the rescue by air.

They found the group spread out for 1,000 feet between the glacier's rim and the wreckage, and they took the nearest off first.

Taking turns and bringing in two survivors at a time, they landed on the ice with ski runners and, back at the airport, dropped these to come in on wheels. They had perfect flying weather.

Staff Sgt. Wayne G. Folsom of Postville, Ia., the crew chief, was the only stretcher case among the 12. He had frostbite, a knee injury and foot bruises.

3 Greeted by Relatives

Three in the rescued group were greeted by relatives at the airport. Mrs. Ralph Tate Sr., and Capt. Ralph Tate Jr., the transport's pilot, were met by Brig. Gen. Ralph Tate Sr., deputy U. S. commander in Austria, who congratulated his son on a "remarkable job" in landing the plane safely and introduced him to President Karl Obelt of Switzerland. Mrs. Tate said she felt good but had "had too many airplanes."

Mrs. Ralph Snavely of Surfside, Calif., was embraced by her husband, a brigadier general and air commander for U. S. forces in Austria.

Alice McMahon, pretty 11-year-old brunette, emerged from the rescue plane chewing gum and said, "I'm all right. I had a fine time."

Her father, Col. William C. McMahon of Buffalo, N. Y., retiring chief of staff of U. S. forces in Austria, and mother also were rescued.

Others brought to safety were Brig. Gen. Loyal M. Haynes, of Le Mars, Ia., head of the advisory board of U. S. forces in Austria; his wife, formerly of Council Bluffs, Ia.; Second Lt. Irving Mathews of Richmond, Va., copilot; Sgt. Louis Hill, 36, of Portales, N. M., the radio operator, and George Harvey of Iron Mountain, Mich., civilian petroleum officer for U. S. forces in Austria. Harvey's presence in the group was a surprise. He was not on the original passenger list released by the army in Vienna.

Gen. Haynes suffered nosebleed and frostbite. Sgt. Hill scratches and bruises on the face and Mrs. Haynes shock. The others were not hurt.

AIR RESCUE EASY BUT JEEPS OUT, ALPINIST SAYS

By The Associated Press

MEIRINGEN, SWITZERLAND, Nov. 25—A grizzled Swiss mountaineer—one of 70 who risked life and limb to help rescue 12 Americans stranded in the snowclad Alps following a plane crash,—gravely averred today that he wanted "no more of that."

The Swiss hastened to explain, however, it wasn't the hazardous eight-hour climb and the equally hazardous descent that worried him.

"It was those GI jeep drivers they sent to meet us at the bottom," he declared. 'They almost scared the life out of me."

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, O., Nov. 25—Jesse Sweeney, 50, pleaded innocent today to a charge of first degree murder in the shotgun death of Col. Clell Perkins, 60, and was held without bond for action by the Licking county grand jury next January.

Sweeney, a tenant on Perkins' farm at nearby Johnstown, waived reading of the affidavit and entered his plea through counsel before Municipal Judge Harvey J. Alexander. He was jailed pending grand jury action.

Perkins, former chief veterinary in the European war theater was wounded Friday and died the following day in what Sheriff William McElroy said was a quarrel over orders against further wheat planting.

The sheriff quoted Sweeney as saying he fired after being threatened by Perkins.

Salesman Values Eggs Above Case of Gems

By The Associated Press

CLARA CITY, Minn., Nov. 25—A salesman walked into William Donner's jewelry store, set down his grips, and immediately rushed out again.

He returned a short time later, carrying a box of eggs which he carefully laid aside while he opened grips to display $60,000 worth of jewelry.

"Do you mean to tell me you left those valuable jewels here, unattended while you went chasing eggs?" asked Donner.

"Sure," answered the salesman. "Eggs are hard to get where I come from."

FOLLOW THROUGH IN STOCK RALLY FAILS

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 25 — Many rallying stocks of Saturday failed to follow through in today's market and irregularly lower tendencies prevailed from the opening on.

While scattered favorites managed to make some progress, declines of fractions to 2 points or so were widely distributed near the fourth hour. Neither buying nor selling exhibited any real urgency, however, and the ticker tape frequently was at a standstill.

Anaconda and Kennecott pushed up in reflection of rising copper prices. Resistant were International Nickel, American Smelting, J. I. Case, United Aircraft, Dow Chemical and Western Union "A".

On the losing end were Chrysler, Bethlehem, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, International Harvester, Santa Fe, Pennsylvania Railroad, Union Pacific, Great Northern, Montgomery Ward, Texas Co. and American Telephone.

Most commodities slipped and bonds were uneven.

Among curb laggards were Cities Service preferred, American Republics Securities Corp. General and National Union Radio.

Holders of steels, found scant encouragement in the dwindling of steel oputput due to the growing fuel shortage. It was estimated that mills in the Pittsburgh district would begin the week at 75 per cent of ingot capacity against about 100 per cent last week. Operations in the Youngstown, Ohio, area were scheduled at around 45 per cent compared with 91 per cent last Monday while production in the Chicago field was put at some 73 per cent versus 93.33 per cent a week ago.

HIGH COURT UPHOLDS PUBLIC UTILITY ACT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 — The supreme court today upheld the constitutionality of the so-called "death sentence" clause of the public utility holding company act.

The decision was given on appeals by two companies from orders by the securities and exchange commission requiring their dissolution.

The companies are the American Power and Light Co. and the Electric Power and Light Corp., both with offices in New York City. They are holding companies in the Electric Bond and Share Co. holding company system.

Justice Murphy delivered the 6-0 decision. Justices Reed, Douglas and Jackson previously had qualified themselves from taking any part. Justice Rutledge wrote a concurring opinion.

2 SHIPS COLLIDE AND SINK OFF MIAMI

By The Associated Press

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 25—Two small freighters collided and sank off Miami today and the coast guard began a rescue search for about 17 members of the two crews.

First word of the accident came from the Caribbean trader Evangelos, which flashed a distress call a few hours after leaving Miami for Haiti for a cargo of bananas and other island products.

The craft reported she was in collision with the freighter Marsidee, from Nassau, and was sinking.

A short time later the Marsidee reported the Evangelos had sunk and she too, was sinking.

Coast guard rescue craft sped to the scene in the straits of Florida about 30 miles south of Miami but discovered no survivors immediately.

Coast guardsmen said first reports were that the Evangelos carried a crew of 10, and the Marsidee a crew of 7 men.

"Gray Eagle" of the Vatican, Now 96, Continues on Duty

By JOHN P. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Writer.

VATICAN CITY—The "ancient gray eagle" that is Gennaro Cardinal Granito-Pignatelli, Prince of Belmonte, bishop of Albano and Ostia, and dean of the sacred college, peered out shrewdly from beneath jutting white eyebrows at the interviewer and said:

GRANITO-PIGNATELLI

"But of course, the reason for an article about me is the fact that I am 86 years old."

In understandable pride of the fullness of his years and of his tough body's triumph over time, the venerable prince of the church exaggerated slightly. But it was an exaggeration of months and days, not of years. He will be—he firmly intends to be—96 his next birthday, April 10, 1947.

Watched History Go By

When he was born that long ago spring day in Naples, Pope Pius IX reigned over wide domains not occupied by the armies of the ascent kingdom of Italy, and Millard Fillmore was President of an American republic not yet bloodied in civil warfare.

Since then, he has seen five other popes on the throne of Peter. All of them he knew, the last four well, the last two so intimately in their younger days that he refers to them not as Pius XI and XII but as "Ratti" and "Pagelli," their family names.

His step is still firm, his handclasp stout, his voice resonant, his tall solid frame erect, his hearing is good—he bends only slightly toward his interviewer to listen. He reads without glasses. Most of the time he writes out the replies to his voluminous correspondence in his own large, strong, beautifully shaped hand.

"I try sometimes turning letters over to secretaries," he says, "but they never come back just the way I want them."

In the apartment in modern Santa Harta palace which the present pope assigned him this spring after the Polish ambassador vacated it, he lives quietly with his sister Princess Anna, who is 92.

Keeps Regular Hours

The eldest of the cardinals is in bed every night at 10 o'clock and up again, following his custom of years, at 4:30.

As prefect of the sacred congregation of ceremonies (an assignment he requested when Benedict VX told him one day, "Tell me what I can do to please you"), as member of the congregations of the council, rites and extraordinary ecclesiastical affairs, as protector of more than 40 religious orders and finally as dean of the college, Cardinal Granito-Pignatelli has plenty to keep him busy.

One of his duties—the saddest—is to sign bicletti of notifications to all his brother cardinals when one of their number dies. That duty has devolved upon him five times this year and reduced the membership of the college to 65.

"I marvel greatly, and thank God, that I am spared," he said.

Movie-Time Clocker To Arbitrate Races

By The United Press

CHICAGO—Dr. Douglas Doyle, a Chicago surgeon, has perfected a new motion-picture time recording apparatus to clock vital fractions of seconds in foot and horse races.

"Now we can get permanent, incontestable evidence, start to finish, of the time of any event," he said.

The casual observer may think fractions of a second are superfluous, but Dr. Doyle pointed out that 1-24 of a second in a horse race means an added two feet of distance, and in a 100-yard foot race a fifth of a second covers six feet.

"Many great sprinters may have beaten world records," he said, "except for the fact that timekeepers started the watch a fraction too fast or stopped it a fraction late. I wonder how many records have been wasted like that."

Youth Admits Triple Killing

14-Year-Old Confesses Shooting Foster Parents and Sister.

By The Associated Press

ROCKVILLE, Md., Nov. 25 — Fourteen-year-old Robert Snyder, who police said confessed the shotgun slaying of his family of three, was described today as apparently less concerned over a murder charge than over the possibility of having to visit the scene of the shootings.

Police officers said the boy was dry-eyed and outwardly calm when he told them of slaying his foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Snyder, and their adopted daughter, Jane Ann, 12, Saturday following an argument over his use of the family car.

But, police Lt. Joseph B. Nolte said this calm turned to terror when police officers suggested that "Bobbie" accompany them to the scene of the tragedy — the kitchen of a farmhouse 12 miles northwest of here.

Bobbie was charged with murder and was scheduled for arraignment in Rockville juvenile court at 1:30 p. m. today.

Dr. Dexter M. Bullard, court-appointed phychiatrist, termed Bobbie's condition "confused, very much confused."

Joseph B. Simpson Jr., state's attorney who filed the murder charge, said Bobbie told this story:

Bobbie stayed out late with the family car Friday night when he had a date. The father, a Washington tax attorney, threatened to ban him from using the car.

Bobbie went upstairs and got a double-barreled shotgun and two boxes of shells. He went to the kitchen where the family was about to begin lunch. Without a word, he began shooting.

He first shot his father, then his mother. Reloading, he shot his terrified sister. Then he reloaded again and fired two more shots, one each into the heads of his father and mother.

The boy took his father's wallet containing $15 and drove the family car to the home of his chum. They then attended the movies after which the friend prevailed upon Bobbie to report to police.

SHERIFF FINDS MAN WOUNDED AT DECLIFF

Discovery Made as Officers Go To Serve Warrant.

A 59-year-old Decliff man was in Marion City hospital today suffering from neck wounds after he was found lying on the floor in his home Sunday about 8 a. m. by sheriff's officers who had gone there to serve a warrant for his arrest.

He is H. W. Orth, charged by Marion County Prosecutor James E. Reed with having improper relations with a 15-year-old girl.

When sheriff's officers went to his home Sunday morning they were told by his wife that he had gone into another room. The door was opened and Orth was lying on the floor in a pool of blood with a straight razor beside him, the sheriff's office reported.

During the last several days juvenile authorities have questioned the girl pending a hearing before Juvenile Judge Oscar Gast. No date for the hearing had been set.

Sea Serpent Etiquette Detailed by Hal Boyle

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 25—If you meet "the great sea serpent," long-dreamed of by zoologists don't do anything hasty. Be friendly.

The mistake made by a group of Italian fishermen the other day was in attacking the 100-foot rose-colored monster they say they saw in Lake Como.

Hal Boyle

The startled monster, they say, bowled over their boats and dived for the lake bottom. So science lost another chance to lure ashore and catalog the last unclassified titan of the waters—if there is one.

From studying the lore of students who believe in the existence of the sea serpent, I have culled these tips on how to behave socially if you bump into one.

In the first place, if you think you see one in a barroom, rub your eyes twice and put on your glasses. If the serpent doesn't disappear, call a doctor—for yourself.

But if you come up from a dive along some lonely sea or lake shore and see a huge unknown bulk swimming before you, start treading water gently. If the bulk resolves itself into a fat lady side-stroking west, well—false alarm.

Points of Recognition

Should it be "the great sea serpent," however, you can recognize him by these points.

He will look something like an ordinary newt suffering from a pituitary gland derangement. That is, he will be something under or over 100 feet long. If he is an orthodox sea serpent, he also will have a long slender neck and tail, a large body to balance them, four flippers to help him through the waves, a smooth skin without scales.

He also may have a mane. In color he will be dark brown on top fading to lighter shades on the underbody.

Britisher Figured It Out

Lt. Cmdr. R. T. Gould a retired British naval officer who figured out these characteristics and became annoyed at people who didn't believe in sea serpents, added.

"Its principal habitat is the Atlantic ocean, both north and south, and it appears to like sunshine and hot weather and to be migratory."

Scotland's Loch Ness monster and Lake Como's new tourist attraction must be fresh water varieties. So don't lose hope of a chance encounter if you live inland.

Now for what to do:

Remember that for all his size he is gentle, timorous, and solitary. You don't believe those old Norwegian sailor tales, do you, that he used to rear up and gobble men off ship decks?

Lonely After Centuries

He is lonely after all these centuries and looking for a pal. Look him in the eye. Hum something sweet and croony, like 'Love's Old Sweet Song.' Avoid boogie-woogie, "Anchors Aweigh," or anything startling.

When you see you have his confidence, talk to him—steadily and in a low tone.

"Come on, boy, aren't you tired of being alone? What's troubling you? Swim over here, old boy, and let me scratch the barnacles off your port side. There, isn't that better?"

Ready for Final Pitch

Then you give him the final pitch:

"What say we flap on ashore and pick up a couple hundred fresh shrimp salads? Say, and afterward, I know the sweetest little sea serpent uptown that's just been dying to meet a salt water guy like you. Come on, race you for the shore."

And nine times out of ten that old sea serpent will follow you like a fox terrier. You can lead him by the mane. But don't lead him in to any barrooms. You'll be right back where you were—nobody believing you.

Akron vs. Jersey City For Pro Grid Honors

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 25—Akron and Jersey City will clash Dec. 8 for the American league football championship.

Akron clinched the western division title yesterday by blinking the Long Island Indians, 20-0 while Jersey City eastern victors eliminated the Scranton Miners from the western flag chase by scoring a 28-17 win at Jersey City over the Miners.

TRI-STATE CLASS C LEAGUE SHAPING UP

Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky Talk Baseball Loop.

By The Associated Press

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Nov. 25—Prospects for organizing a class C baseball league comprised of teams from Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky appeared bright today.

Representatives of Charleston, Logan and Williamson, W. Va., told an organization meeting here yesterday they were ready to get going.

Ray Ryan, former president of the old Mountain State League said he had received favorable responses from Chillicothe and Ironton, O., Ashland, Ky., and Wheeling, Parkersburg and Clarksburg, W. Va.

Portsmouth, O., Huntington and Beckley, W. Va., representatives also indicated they would join the league.

A shortage of organized playing fields was said to be one of the problems which must be overcome.

Three men from Springfield, O., representing Portsmouth, said they had taken preliminary steps for a franchise in the Ohio river city.

Fred Hering, a representative of the Pittsburgh Pirates announced that the National league club also was interested in the Portsmouth franchise and might purchase it outright.

Ryan said another meeting would be held at Charleston Dec. 29.

Minor Bowl Candidates To Be Named This Weekend

NEW YORK, Nov. 25—With the Rose Bowl filled and several major conference races settled, the college football teams which haven't quite had enough will pick up the loose ends of the 1946 season this week as promoters select the opponents for other post-season games.

The final week of the campaign will divide its grid fare between Thanksgiving day and Saturday with the Big Four—Army, Notre Dame, Georgia and UCLA—risking their unbeaten records on the weekend date.

Army Meets Navy

Army, shooting for its third straight season without defeat, plays Navy at Philadelphia. The Cadets will be top-heavy favorites to crush a Navy team that hasn't won a game since its opener.

Georgia, which breezed past Chattanooga, 48-27, to run its perfect record to nine wins will be matched by Georgia Tech a team that thumped Furman 41-7 for its eighth triumph since dropping its opener to Tennessee.

The winner probably will go to the Sugar Bowl and Georgia can clinch a tie for the Southeastern conference championship Tennessee which squeaked past Kentucky 7-0, to match Georgia's conference record of four wins and no losses, will be at Vanderbilt.

Could Win Title

A Tennessee loss and a Georgia triumph would give the Bulldogs the title, while both would share the championship by winning. Tennessee already has accepted a bid to the Orange Bowl, with an opponent expected to come from the Southwest conference.

UCLA, which won the Pacific Coast conference title and right to be host team in the Rose Bowl by turning back Southern California, 13-6, winds up its regular season against invading Nebraska with hopes of finishing with a perfect record of 10 triumphs.

Southern Cal, meanwhile, on Saturday will invade Notre Dame whose unbeaten but once-tied eleven swamped Tulane, 41-0.

It was all over but the shouting in the Big Nine, where Illinois won the title and qualified to represent the east in the Rose Bowl by whipping Northwestern, 20-0.

Michigan Slaughters O S U.

Other Big Nine finales last week saw Michigan slaughter Ohio State 58-6, in a lost cause; Indiana defeat Purdue, 34-20 and Minnesota clip Wisconsin, 6-0.

North Carolina, winner of the Southern conference title with a 22-7 triumph over Duke, close out its season at Virginia Saturday and other teams in that loop argue over second place on Thursday.

Rice, still trying to share the Southwest conference title with Arkansas after trouncing Texas Christian, 14-0 entertains Baylor Saturday with Texas Christian playing at Southern Methodist, which blanked Baylor, 35-0.

Oklahoma assured of no worse than a tie for Big Six honors after bombing Nebraska, 27-6, winds up at Oklahoma A. and M.

Fighters Put Finishing Touches on Training

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25—Champion Bob Montgomery and challenger Wes Mouzon completed their training today in preparation for tonight's 15-round battle for the lightweight title (New York-Pennsylvania version).

Mouzon, who scored a surprising, two-round knockout over the bobcat last August, is the odds-maker's choice, rated at about 7 to 5 to repeat his victory.

Some of Best Ohio Grid Tilts Booked for Thanksgiving Day

By The Associated Press

The 1946 Ohio collegiate football campaign winds up this week with a four-game Thanksgiving day program that promises to produce the state's best pigskin battle of the year.

The headline contest puts Miami's Redskins against the University of Cincinnati Bearcats at Cincinnati Thursday. Always a natural, the Redskin-Bearcats tussle this year takes on added flavor, for each school is boasting its best gridiron machine in years—those defeats coming at the hands of 'big time' opponents.

Cincinnati, which started the season with a 15-6 upset of Indiana, defending Big Nine champs, has lost only to Kentucky (26-7) and Tulsa (20-0). Miami dropped a 13-7 decision to Purdue and a 20-17 heartbreaker to Miami, Fla.

Three Common Foes

They've each played three common foes with these results: Cincy beat Dayton 19-0, Ohio U. 19-0 and Xavier 39-0. Miami thumped Dayton 35-0, Ohio U. 23-14, and Xavier 28-6.

Other games on the Turkey Day slate send Western Reserve against Case at Cleveland, Xavier against Marshall at Huntington, W. Va., and Wilberforce against West Virginia State at Institute, W. Va.

The final curtain of the season fell for 10 Buckeye collegiate elevens over the weekend, and it crashed with devastating effect for at least two of those schools.

It practically knocked the bottom out at Ohio State and Wittenberg. Ohio State's Bucks took their worst drubbing in 44 years, falling 58-6 before a Michigan onslaught that produced eight touchdowns, seven conversions and a field goal. Wittenberg was crumped, 31 to 0, by a Denison team that had won only one game in seven previous starts.

Ohio Boy Sparks Wolves

There was a measure of satisfaction for Buckeye fans in Michigan's rout of Ohio State, for an Ohio boy, Bob Chappuis of Toledo, was the big wheel in the Wolverine aerial circus that gained 300 yards against the Bucks for Michigan's most decisive triumph over Ohio since they beat 'em 86-0 in 1902.

Left halfback Chappuis completed 12 of 20 passes, three of them for touchdowns, and tallied a six-pointer himself in chalking up two new Western Conference records. He finished the seven-game Big Nine season with a total offensive record of 1,002 yards besting the 862 mark set by Northwestern's Otto Graham four years ago and ran his pass completions to 35 for 65 for 565—a new percentage mark for the league.

Bucks Save Shutout

The Bucks, staving off what looked like their only hint of the year, bagged a touchdown with less than a minute to go. Sub quarterback Bill Doolittle tossed a scoring pass to halfback Rod Swinehart who ran 10 yards to the goal. The play gained 61 yards.

Denison's unexpected rout of Wittenberg was practically a one-man affair. Fullback Bernie Wentz playing his last game, celebrated with three touchdowns.

Snatches of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 25—Hints, not guaranteed:

Soon after the football wolves began to howl after Michigan State's Charlie Bachman, backfield coach Johnnie Pingel flatly turned down an offer from a Lansing industrialist for a job at almost double his present pay. But we also hear that Johnny isn't too popular and that the Spartans really have their eyes on Arizona's Mike Casteel. A "dark horse" among the possible successors to Andy Kerr at Colgate is William "Ki" Young, who quit coaching at Auburn, N. Y. high school after an unbeaten season to look after his insurance business. Young, a Colgate grad, is a close friend of Kerr.

Getting Cagey

Tulane's basketballers play 26 games this season in addition to two tournaments, which should give second-year coach Cliff Wells a good chance to show his stuff. Hotshots on the Idaho U. team, which opens the garden season include Don Dillard, a Blackfoot, Idaho, boy who played freshman ball at Kentucky, and Jack Phoenix, tabbed by coach Cy Anderson of the Idaho Simplots as the best high school cager he ever saw . . .

Dots All Brothers

Did you know that Ty Cobb held the record for votes in the Hall of Fame elections with the exception of the unanimous choice of Lou Gehrig? All but four of 226 baseball writers' ballots went to Ty. Dick Schultz, the Cleveland pro basketballer, also wields a nifty paint brush and turned out some hand-painted "Little Brown Jug" ties last summer in honor of the big horse race in his home town of Delaware, Ohio.

As a by-product of increasing the basketball seating capacity of the Indiana U. fieldhouse, the runners will have to work on a seven-lap track this winter.

Cleveland Again Will Be Pro Football Capital

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 25—For the second straight year Cleveland's huge lakefront windswept stadium will be the scene of a playoff for a professional football league championship.

On Dec. 22, the Cleveland Browns—greatest crowd-attracting aggregation in pro football history—will meet the New York Yankees for the All-America football conference crown. A year ago the Cleveland Rams defeated the Washington Redskins in the stadium, 16-14, for the National football league title—the margin being a Sammy Baugh pass from the end zone which hit the goal post and rebounded for a safety.

The Browns before a crowd of 37,054 defeated the Buffalo Bisons yesterday to annex the All-America western division laurels. The score was 42 to 17, and the Browns erased a 10-7 deficit to grab the decision. The Yanks clinched the eastern division title a week ago, before bowing 38-28 to Chicago's Rockets yesterday.

Automatic Otto Graham, Northwestern's All-America back tossed a pair of touchdown passes against the Bisons to raise his total to 13, while Lou (The Toe) Groza booted six points after touchdown to hike his total in that department to 37, just two shy of the professional record of 39 set in 1943 by Bob Snyder of the Chicago Bears. The "points after" boosted Groza's scoring total to 67, his 10 field goals making up the difference.

In winding up their regular home season of seven games the Browns boosted their stadium attendance to approximately 400,000, an average of 57,000 and their 12-game total to 585,000. They meet Miami next Sunday and Brooklyn the following Sunday, in road contest, before coming back here to clash with the Yanks, who have been beaten three times and tied once in a dozen attempts, the Browns have won 10 and lost two.

Chicago Bears Clinch Western Pro Title

NEW YORK, Nov. 25—The Chicago Bears today are Western division champions of the National football league for the eighth time in their colorful career.

Biggest Big 9 Season Lowers Curtain

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 25—The Western conference's biggest football history—most successful as all attendance records smashed, and most surprising unpredictable in team after many ex-servicemen while others failed—has come to an end with Illinois a champion.

...a climax now comes ... Bowl. According to ... ...ois will meet the ... Bruins in the colorful ... classic New Year's day ... ...n it will represent a ... jump into national ... prominence, for it took ... years to win a conference championship and that was ... mainly by a sheer, ... scrappiness usually ... team spirit. They ... le Saturday by wal... Northwestern, 20-0.

Saturday's Results

Northwestern 0
Ohio State 6
Purdue 20
Wisconsin 0

Both offensively and defensively, Illinois was never a leader on the Big Nine statistics chart, but touchdowns pay off on the gridiron and the Illini snared enough of them to win six out of seven conference starts, including a choice 13-9 victory over Michigan which eventually kept the Wolverines out of the title by a margin of half a game.

Lost To Indiana

Illinois' only conference loss was to Indiana, 14-7, and that came two weeks after Coach Ray Eliot got his team at the peak for Notre Dame, which won 26-6. By the same token, however, Michigan was tied 14-14 by Northwestern and was defeated by the Illini on successive Saturday's following its all-out effort against Army, the Cadets winning 20-13. But thereafter the Wolverines crushed Minnesota, Wisconsin and Ohio State handing the Buckeyes their worst drubbing in conference competition 58-6, Saturday in an impressive finale.

Today the Big Nine faculty committees are listing teams in order of preference to make the Rose Bowl trip. This is nothing more than a formality required after receiving the Bowl bid from the coast. Illinois, as conference titlist, seems assured of the nomination.

Michigan Considered

Coming in for due consideration in the nomination, however, will be Michigan, the conference's top statistical team which piled up 509 yards by rushing and passing to Ohio State's 125.

Ultimately, the defending champion Indiana took third place in the title race by trouncing Purdue 34-20 Saturday while the Iowa Hawkeyes, back under the capable leadership of Coach Eddie Anderson, nailed down fourth place to become the campaign's "surprise team." Most observers rated them at the bottom before the season started.

Minnesota—making the outstanding comeback by winning its last three games the final with a 6-0 victory over Wisconsin—leased fifth position and Ohio State and Northwestern tied for sixth and seventh. Wisconsin was eighth and Purdue ninth.

The collapse of the Buckeyes probably was the biggest disappointment of the season, especially after they were pulverized 58-6 Saturday by Michigan.

350 ATTEND DISTRICT CHURCH RALLY HERE

Oceola-Mt. Zion Group Retains Banner.

An attendance of 350 marked the Brotherhood and Young People's rally of the Marion district of the United Brethren branch, Evangelical United Brethren church, in Marion Sunday night. The rally was held at Thomas A. Edison Junior High school here, preceded by supper at the Community house of First Evangelical United Brethren church. Separate sessions were held by the Brotherhood and youth groups, and a mass meeting followed, with William Manahan of Defiance as speaker.

Attendance banner was retained by the Oceola-Mt. Zion charge, with a total of 74 present. Other churches and charges represented included Bucyrus 18; Cardington charge, 38; Hepburn charge, 6; Marion, 64; North Robinson, 45; Smithville 25; Sycamore 36; West Mansfield, 43. A bronze plaque for young people's attendance went to the West Mansfield delegation.

Ministers held a special session at 4:30 p. m. in charge of Rev. Garrison Roebuck, host pastor and district ministerial leader. Reports were given. In line with a plan to establish a women's district organization, Mrs. Roebuck was named temporary chairman in charge, and the organization will be completed at the next district meeting, it was announced. In charge of the group meetings were W. C. Wilhelm of Bucyrus, Brotherhood, and James Craven of Marion, Young People.

Opening the mass meeting was music by the Marion church's Sunday school orchestra. Scripture was read by Rev. Hermon Keer of Smithville and prayer was by Rev. Thomas Welser born of Sycamore. An instrumental duet was presented by representatives of the North Robinson charge, an offering was taken under the direction of Rev. Howard Hammer of the Cardington charge, and a young men's quartet from the Smithville charge sang. The attendance count was taken by Rev. Clayton Strawser of Oceola and Rev. W. L. Gunther of North Robinson.

"Picking Up Sticks" was the subject of Mr. Manahan's address. He based his thoughts on the account from the book of Acts of the conduct of the apostle Paul who, after shipwreck, in spite of criticism of others, continued to pick up sticks for a fire. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lee, representing the Cardington charge, sang, and benediction was by Rev. J. H. Patterson, retired minister of Bucyrus. The next rally, to be held in three months, will be at Sycamore, it was announced.

Indiana Town's Chief Industry Hit by Fire

By The Associated Press

CANNELTON, Ind., Nov. 25—The 2,500 residents of this Ohio river town, which was badly damaged during the 1937 flood, faced worse economic disaster today after a fire that destroyed their main industry and left four of every ten wage earners without a job.

The No. 1 and No. 2 plants of Lehman Manufacturing Company of America, Inc., a factory that converted boxes during the war, was destroyed last night by a wind-swept blaze that engulfed five nearby houses and a grocery.

Lausche Issues Proclamation On Ohio Conservation of Coal

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 25—Here is Gov. Frank J. Lausche's proclamation on the coal emergency.

Whereas, the shutdown of coal production in our nation has already caused a serious shortage of coal which is likely to become a menace to the health and safety of the people of our state, and

Whereas, statistical information shows that there is only a two-day coal production supply outside that in consumers hands and in yards and on docks.

Whereas, the statistical information shows that the supplies of coal in the possession of municipal and public utilities show that condition of danger exists in a number of communities of our state, and

Whereas, J. D. Small, administrator of the civilian production administration, and J. A. Krug, solid fuels administrator for war, have requested that full conservation measures be adopted by all citizens and local governments within the nation.

Now, therefore, I, Frank J. Lausche, governor of the state of Ohio, do hereby proclaim a state of emergency in regard to coal and fuel supplies and I do call upon the people of Ohio and especially local government officials to institute programs of coal and fuel conservation. I urge that the public officials of local communities institute programs of coal and fuel conservation. I further urge that local government officials urge their efforts to procure a compliance with utilities order U-14 of the civilian production administration" which in substances contains the following provisions: No consumer shall use electricity for any of the following purposes:

1. Refrigeration for air-conditioning except to the extent essential for industrial processes or for health and safety.

2. Outdoor and indoor advertising and promotional lighting.

3. Outdoor display and flood lighting except to the extent necessary for the conduct of outdoor business or services.

4. Outdoor or indoor decorative and ornamental lighting.

5. Show window or show case lighting.

6. Marquee lighting in excess of 60 watts for each marquee.

7. White way street lighting in excess of the amount determined by local public authority to be necessary for public safety.

8. Outdoor or indoor sign lighting except for:

(1) Directional or identification signs required for fire and police protection, traffic control, transportation terminals, or hospitals, or directional or identification lighting for any similar essential public service;

(2) Directional or identification signs using not more than 60 watts per establishment, for doctors and for hotels and other public lodging establishments.

9 Outdoor entrance lighting, except the minimum essential for public health and safety and then not more than 60 watts per entrance.

10 Any other form of general outdoor or indoor illumination in or about any commercial, industrial, or other non-residential establishment in excess of 75 per cent of the illumination normally used.

11. In excess of 75 per cent of the normal passenger elevator or escalator service in any building having more than one passenger elevator or escalator.

These measures are essential to the end that through conservation the fuel supply that now is available may carry us through the emergency that faces us.

SOVIETS CLAIM NEW ATOMIC TECHNIQUE

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, Nov. 25—A Soviet scientist was reported today to have discovered a "new kind of disintegration of the atomic nucleus."

S. I. Vavilov, president of the Soviet Academy of Science, credited the accomplishment of physicist P. I. Lukirsky in listing Lukrisky among 20 candidates for five newly created chairs in theoretical and experimental physics. He gave no details of the discovery.

(Disintegrating the atomic nuclei of plutonium and one type of uranium has produced the power of atomic bombs.)

Meanwhile, Leningrad university geophysicists claimed to have accomplished the deepest electrical sounding of the earth's crust yet made—32 kilometers (19.8) miles—and said, "The deeper the earth's crust is probed, the better we can judge the minerals it contains."

In the Leningrad announcement, Pro. B. N. Yanovsky was quoted as saying the deepest previous electrical sounding he knew of was one of 12 kilometers by a French scientist.

The Moscow news called the experiment "of great practical significance."

In naming candidates for the physics chairs, Vavilov termed Lukirsky a "skilled experimenter who knows how quickly to grasp the main theoretical features of new phenomena and is a teacher of many Soviet physicists and specialists on electrons and the vacuum."

In a quarter of a century, he said, Lukirsky has published much material on photoelectricity, polarization of X-rays, crystalline physics and radioactivity.

SECOND WEEK OF MISSIONS OPENS

St. Mary Catholic church was filled to capacity for the solemn closing of the women's mission Sunday afternoon and last night the missionaries, Rev. Roland Maher, C. P., of Detroit and Rev. Walter Kaelin, C. P. of Chicago, opened a week's mission for men. The mission masses each morning will be at 5:45 and 8:45 and services each evening will be at 7:30. The masses will be followed by brief talks and instructions. Non-Catholics as well as men of the parish are invited to attend the services. Sunday night Rev. Kaelin spoke on "The End of Man" and tonight Rev. Maher will speak on "Confession." A large audience was present for the opening sermon and exercises.

"'Seek ye therefore first the kingdom of God and His justice, and all these things will be added unto you,' words which first fell from the lips of the Savior of mankind, formed one of the most beautiful sermons He ever preached," Rev. Maher told his listeners in the closing service Sunday afternoon. Designating the week's mission as a "crossroad of your spiritual life," he admonished them that "the road you will take in firmer adherence to your religion will not be an easy one." Lined up against you, Rev. Maher continued, is a triple alliance, united in a common interest, the world, full of materialism and small ideals, the devil, who once loved God and now hates Him and hurts Him through destruction of the human soul, and the leading of an impure life.

Pointing out the lofty place woman holds in the ideals of the home and her duty in the preservation and making of the home, Rev. Maher gave three rules for the maintaining of life—morning and evening prayers the sacraments and the safeguarding of the home through practice of the Catholic faith.

Following the sermon Rev. Maher bestowed the papal blessing and the afternoon exercises closed with benediction with Rev. James Carroll, assistant pastor as the celebrant.

Discharged GI Given Early Disillusionment

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Nov. 25—Robert Baggett, 23, of Portsmouth, Va., just discharged from the army at Fort Sheridan, Ill., continued his way homeward early today a poorer, slightly disillusioned young man.

He told police he was waiting for a train in Union terminal late last night when he got into a conversation with a strange man, who suggested they take a walk.

A short distance from the station the stranger put his hand in his own pocket, pressed a hard object against Baggett's back and demanded the discharge empty his pockets.

Baggett handed over $573 and a diamond engagement ring he was taking to his "best girl" back home, police reported.

The Marshman's were not at home and the fire was discovered by other residents of the apartment building when they smelled smoke. Engine companies one and four answered the call.

REAMS REPORTS SNAG IN INSTITUTION WORK

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 25—State Welfare Director Frazier Reams said today needed repairs to seven state institution power plants might be delayed past the winter season by failure of the state controlling board to approve 10-day emergency advertising for new equipment and parts.

Reams said the board had transferred to the welfare department $943,037 but that the money must be obligated by Dec. 31. The money would cover purchase of boilers, stokers and generators at state hospitals in Columbus, Dayton, Cincinnati, Massillon and Gallipolis state institute, Apple Creek State School and Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield.

State engineers now are working on preparation of estimates in effort to open a 30-day advertising campaign. Reams pointed out that bid could not be opened until near the deadline for obligating the money.

If the money can not be obligated by Dec. 31, a special appropriation by the legislature would be necessary, Reams declared.

By The Associated Press

"We have got to get over this habit of firing a coach every time he loses a couple of ball games," Larkins said.

He said he had talked with the athletic staff since Michigan handed the Bucks their worst drubbing in 44 years and found that "we all like Bix . . . no one has lost confidence in him, and no one doubts that the day will come when we'll pay that one back."

OUTLAWING OF STRIKES ASKED

Senator Says Such Legislation Necessary for Basic Industries.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—Senator Fulbright (D-Ark) proposed today that congress outlaw strikes and compel arbitration of labor disputes in basic industries such as coal mining directly affecting the general welfare of the country.

Such machinery could be made applicable to future coal work stoppages if not the present walkout, Fulbright told a reporter. He said it might be applied also to other enterprises such as oil, steel, transportation and public utilities.

Would Ban Strikes

His idea, Fulbright explained, would be to ban strikes altogether in these industries and force arbitration of disputes either through a new agency set up on the pattern of the interstate commerce commission or through a special court, or both.

He added that the government might have to exercise regulatory powers over the industries, just as it now does over some utilities, and might have to control prices of the industries' products in order to adjust wage disputes equitably.

The Arkansas Senator's suggestion came while legislative leaders of both parties waited to see whether President Truman intends to call them into conference about possible ways and means of ending the coal walkout. There have been indications the President is thinking of such a move if developments point to a prolonged mine shutdown.

Some Action Necessary

While he said he could think of no legislative solution to the present dispute between John L. Lewis and the government, Fulbright insisted that some action must be taken to remove the threat of strikes in industries affecting the economy of the whole country.

"We cannot let one man or one group of men stop the whole economic machinery of the country by the power they exercise in any one basic industry," he declared. "I have no quarrel with the workers' right to strike in industries where a stoppage has only a local effect or which merely inconveniences the public. But the very life of the nation is at stake here."

PASTORS REITERATE VICE DRIVE DEMANDS

By The Associated Press

STEUBENVILLE, O., Nov. 25—In a three-column paid advertisement in the Herald-Star today, a dozen militant Protestant ministers reiterated demands that the city and Jefferson county be purged of vice and crime, and called upon pastors of other faiths to join them in their crusade.

Citing recent raids by Police Chief Ross H. Cunningham and Sheriff Robert D. Bates, in which 35 persons were arrested on charges ranging from loitering to illicit cohabitation, the pastors declared:

"The people of Steubenville are too intelligent to think the city has been cleaned up. No big time racketeer has been pulled in, and no operator of an organized house of prostitution was among those arrested. The arrest of the 'small fry' will not clean up the city.

"If we are appointed special policemen, we propose to strike at the big shots, and make vice unprofitable here."

Marion Teacher One of Three Winners in UN Essay Contest

Miss Lucile Foreman of 733 East Church street, teacher in Harding High school, has been announced as one of three winners of radio station WLW's United Nations essay contest.

The other two winners were Edward R. Bartlett, dean of DePauw university of Greencastle, Ind., and Hedvika Lucas, a 16 year old high student of Cuyahoga Falls, O.

The winners were announced by James D. Shouse, president of the Crosley Broadcasting Corp., on a special WLW broadcast at 6:15 p. m., Sunday.

The winners and a guide from WLW will leave Cincinnati's Lunken airport for New York City Monday afternoon, Dec. 2, via American Airlines. In New York, they will attend important sessions of the United Nations assembly, and visit the city itself. Transportation and other accommodations for the four-day visit have already been arranged by WLW. Cincinnati Air Activities planes will pick up each winner at the airport nearest his home for the hop to Cincinnati before the New York take-off on Dec. 2.

Mr. Shouse's announcement, Sunday, climaxed the competition among the midwestern listeners in answering "How can WLW best contribute to the interest and understanding of the United Nations?" In commenting on the contest, Mr. Shouse said the widespread response to the essay contest showed a healthy trend and indicated a willingness of listeners to accept their responsibility in promoting a better understanding of the United Nations. He went on to say that the essay contest was originated by WLW in seeking to find a means of accepting a greater responsibility, to its listeners.

Essays contributed were judged by a panel composed of Dr. Howard L. Bevis, president of Ohio State university; Dr. Herman L. Donovan, president of the University of Kentucky; Dr. Irvin Stewart, president of West Virginia university, and Dr. Herman B. Wells, president of Indiana university. In naming the winners of the contest, each university president commented on the contest.

Dr. Stewart said, "The essay (contest) reflects mature thinking upon an important question. I hope station WLW can put a number of these suggestions into effect."

Dr. Donovan said the "choice (was) not easy to make" and that "many splendid and constructive suggestions were made in these essays."

Dr. Wells wired these comments: "Contestants and WLW (are) to be congratulated for a thoughtful and interesting contribution to an important question."

Dr. Bevis said, "Station WLW must...do what it can to interpret the UNO organizations but its greatest contribution will lie in helping listeners to know their international neighbors better."

On the special program announcing the winners, Mr. Shouse concluded with thanking all contributors for their suggestions. News Commentator Peter Grant related the background of the contest and explained the entries represented a true cross-section of midwestern listener viewpoints. Besides the comments of all four judges, the praise of Benjamin Cohen and Christopher Cross, both American officials attached to the United Nations assembly were cited on the special program.

The 1,000 word UN essay contest was conducted by WLW'S special broadcast services division under the direction of Miss Kit Fox.

Programs on the Air

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 25—For the second year in a row, Saturday's annual football classic, the Army-Navy game at Philadelphia, is to be displayed both for listeners and viewers. Again NBC will be the medium, coast to coast for broadcasting and four eastern cities for television.

The broadcast is scheduled to open at 1:15 p. m., while television will go on an hour earlier to get in all possible preliminaries. That hookup will include Washington, Philadelphia, New York and Schenectady.

Considerable improvement is anticipated in the pickup in view of the fact that four of the new outdoor cameras will be used by NBC. Last year there was one, it being cut in only intermittently, with most of the pictures supplied by the older type.

While this game is on NBC, CBS and MBS will be directing their attention to Notre Dame vs. Southern California at South Bend, Ind.

Listening tonight: NBC—8 Jean Hersholt in "Parade"; 8:30 Howard Barlow concert; 9:30 Goodman and Borge; 10 Contented Concert; 10:30 I. Q. Quiz.

CBS—7:30 Bob Hawk Quiz; 8 Inner Sanctum with Anne Seymour; 9 Greer Garson in "Mrs. Parkington"; 10 Boris Karloff in "Arsenic and Old Lace."

ABC—7:30 Lone Ranger; 8:30 The Fat Man; 9 Dark Venture Drama; 10 Doctors Talk; 10:30 Fantasy in Melody.

MBS—8 Bulldog Drummond; 8:30 Gregory Hood Casebook; 10:30 Broadway Talks Back.

All times given are Eastern Standard Time. Erroneous listings, if any, are caused by last-minute changes made by stations and networks.

games with out-of-state competition, wining one and losing three to bring their season record to 51 wins against 34 losses and five ties with foreign foes.

Dayton produced the only victory in inter-state play, thumping Marshall's Thundering Herd, 20 to 7.

On the losing side besides the Bucks were Ohio Wesleyan and Toledo. Wesleyan wilted in Florida's heat and bowed 21-13 before Rollins college, and Toledo lost a 13-7 decision to Wichita, Kas.

In other season-ending contests Saturday, halfback Vince Marrott tallied a pair of touchdowns to lead Mount Union to a 18-12 triumph over Kenyon; Akron edged John Carroll 13-6; Quarterback King Brady scored twice and threw a pass for another to lead Ohio U to a 25-6 rout of Xavier, and Oberlin blanked Wooster, 23 to 0.

Former Slave, 96, Does Own Painting

By The United Press

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Mrs. Adeline Jenkins, 96-year-old emancipated slave, has just finished painting her house. She did the entire job except for the "real high places," where she had the help of a boarder.

A few years ago, Mrs. Jenkins dug a basement under her home.

"I did the digging, but somebody else had to lay the bricks," she said.

Prostate Gland Trouble?

I'm a railroad man and for over 3 years had difficulty working because of backaches due to Prostate Gland trouble. Doctor's formula proved of great benefit and before and since his death have sold them (now called Watt's Suppositories) to railroad men and others the country over. The testimonials and repeat business show the good work they do. Backache, getting up nights, often indicate an inflamed Prostate Gland. I guarantee your money back if not given relief. Many To Choose From at Very Low Prices...

Patrons of Hughes Funeral Service frequently comment upon the wide selection of caskets from which they may choose. They also are surprised at the reasonable prices shown on the card in every casket.

From the day this Funeral Home was opened, it has been our policy to offer an ample choice in funeral merchandise. And the plainly marked price is only a matter of fair and open dealing.

Much more, however, goes into keeping our prices reasonable. It begins with a low overhead or cost of operation that comes from personal management. And that same personal service avoids many other items of needless expense.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

FROM the instant when I had heard Harry Underwood's casual offer to get Katharine and me and bring us down to the library for a conference with my father, I had conjectured that his keen eyes had noticed my door, slightly ajar, and that his quick brain had deduced that I was sitting in the darkened room.

Now my conjecture had become an irritating certainty, and with a low chagrined exclamation, I switched on the light.

"You have too many brain cells," I told him crossly, "and all of them working. Can't you let some of them rest for a few seconds at a time?"

"What one means, Harry," Katharine said with her gamin grin, "is that you are a smarty pants who ought to be smacked down."

"But she's too much of a lady to use such language," Harry retorted, then looked at us both reproachfully.

"And this is what I get," he said, "for saving you two from discovery by the Chief! Don't you realize that if I hadn't volunteered for duty, he'd have sent 'K' in one direction, and me in another to round you up, and he might have discovered that you were A.W.O.L.?"

"We are most deeply grateful," Katharine said mockingly, "and now, I suppose I would better be making tracks for the Chief's wing. What shall I do, wait for orders, and keep Dr. Twitchell there until further notice?"

Anticipates Request

"With your usual sapiency," Harry returned, "you have anticipated the requests I was to make of you."

"Such a pretty moniker for orders!" Katharine mocked, and departed on the word. Then Harry offered his arm to me with a ceremonious gesture.

"Shall we descend to the library, Lady Fair?" he queried, but when I had taken the proffered arm, he hesitated oddly.

"The Chief hasn't mentioned this yet," he said after the fraction of a second, "but I'd like to lock the doors to those rooms in which Lil and Marion are riding herd on the Brixtons, and plant the keys in a safe place somewhere."

"You must be expecting something drastic to happen," I told him, and he slanted his eyes at me ironically.

"I am," he said, "and don't tell me you haven't got it all figured out beforehand, for you have. I know you have for a long time. But the Chief will have to do the telling."

"Of course," I said, "and as for the locking in, I already have told Lillian and Marion that I was going to lock their doors on the outside, so that Helena and Carolyn would be foiled if they decided to do any prowling around. I told Marion they wouldn't need to fear fire, for a guard would be patrolling the halls."

We had kept our voices muted, but he now spoke in prison fashion.

Talks Out of Turn

"I'm talking out of turn, but I want you to go back and tell Lil something. If the Chief talks to her later, tell her for the love of Abraham and all the rest of the patriarchs to listen to him as if she never had heard of me or my warning.

"But I want you to tell her and have her pass the word to Marion, and there's a chance of their hearing revolver shots in the house tonight. Have them assure their charges that no possible harm can come to them or to Sam, that their doors are all locked, and there are plenty of guards on duty. But if they set up screaming, there is no predicting what might happen. Have them impress the Brixtons with that fact."

Wishes Her Luck

"I'll go on down now," he went on, "and tell your father that you will be down in a minute, that you are conferring with Lillian about the comfort of the Brixton femmes. Good luck to you!"

He turned and went swiftly down the stairs, while I walked as rapidly to the door of Lillian's room. When she opened the door in response to my light knock, and I silently beckoned her into the hall, Helena's voice sounded shrilly from the bed.

"Oh- oh- What has happened to Sam? You've got to tell me, and I'm going to go to him!"
